Land, Sea-Based Missiles Is Goal

Sec. McElroy's Moves May Curb Dems' Criticism

Actions of Congress To Depend on Work Of Defense Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy may become the Eisenhower administration's cheif asset toward softening sharp criticism from congressional Democrats on the progress of the missile and satellite programs.

McElroy, two months in the Cabinet, has shown some signs of becoming the take-charge sort of official many Democrats have said is needed to crack the bottlenecks they contend have let Russia take the lead in rocketry.

Whether Congress tries its hand at shaking up the Defense Department—possibly through establishment of a separate agency to develop missiles and satellites — seems likely to depend largey on McElroy's performance in the next few weeks.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas had made it clear the prime objective of an investigation of the missiles program by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee he heads is to push the administration into full-blast action on space weapons.

Johnson has indicated he does't care particularly who does the job or how it is done, just so missiles are produced in quantity.

McElroy evidently made a good first impression on subcommittee members when he announced he had lifted overtime restrictions and restored some funds to the missile program.

Several members said they liked McElroy's action in ordering continued development on both the Jupitor and Thor intermediate range ballistic missiles. With one of the competing weapons scheduled to be dropped, there had been uncertainty about the work on both.

If McElroy comes up with some new moves to straighten out the guide lines, simplify Pentagon procedures and get the missile supply belt moving, he could go a long way toward tempering the continuing criticism.

Some critics hailed McElroy's announcement last week that he will ask Congress in January for about a billion dollars in immediate new money.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said this action indicated the defense secretary is "getting the sense of awareness some of us woud like to see.'

Sen. Revercomb (R-Va) said he thinks McElroy can get whatever money he needs from Congress. Revercomb said he found within the administration none of the complacency about which Democrats have been complaining. Instead, he said there was

To Discuss NATO Conference

Dulles, Ike Report To Country Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles make a radio-television report to the nation tonight on the NATO conference last week in Paris.

The conference, seeking unity among the North Atlantic Treaty countries in the face of Russia's missile developments, adopted a chiefs of state approved the U. S. two-way approach. The NATO idea of basing intermediate range missiles in Europe and at the same time called for further disarmament negotiations with the Russians.

Russia already has indicated it is not interested in a NATO-proposed meeting of foreign ministers to discuss disarmament. Soviet leaders called instead for a special United Nations session, or some other full-scale international conference.

The Eisenhower - Dulles broadcast will be carried "live" at 8:30 p. m., EST, by CBS-TV and all four major radio networks. ABC-TV will carry the program on film at 10:30 p. m., and NBC will show it at 11:30 p. m.

The President returned last Friday from Europe, and he has not made any public statements about the NATO meeting since his return.

Dulles told newsmen upon his arrival here Saturday that the 15-nation Atlantic Pact meeting "took all the essential decisions for which we had hoped."

Ex-Husband Held In Area Slaying

Shotgun Blast Kills Man In Petersburg

PETERSBURG — A jealous ex-husband allegedly fired a shotgun blast through a window in his George Shandor, 41, of New Middletown early Sunday morning.

The slaying occurred after Alice Rauch, 35, returned from a Christmas party at 2:15 a.m. with Shandor and the two were talking in the front room of the house. Authorities said Wilbur Rauch, standing outside the living room window 12 feet away, shot Shandor in the chest, killing him instantly.

Rauch then fired a second volley at his ex-wife who had fallen to the floor after the first shot, police said. The blast hit Mrs. Rauch in the left hand and the alleged killer then ran away.

The couple, divorced three years ago, have five children who were asleep in the Rauch home when the shooting occurred.

Walter Sheely, Springfield Township Constable, arrested Rauch at his mother's home at 3:30 a.m. after his estranged wife said he was the only man who could have done the shooting.

Rauch surrendered without any resistance and confessed to the killing a short time later, Sheely said.

Rauch was turned over to the Mahoning County deputy sheriffs and is being held in the county jail in Youngstown on an open charge until the investigation of the slaying is completed, according to authorities.

Columbiana Home Damaged by Fire

COLUMBIANA — The home of Edward Burkholder on Albright Ave. was badly damaged at 7:30 p.m. Saturday by fire originating in a heating stove in the living room during the absence of members of the family.

Mrs. Burkholder had left the house briefly to go to the home of a near neighbor.

Firemen were at the scene two hours with two pumpers. They were hampered by dense smoke. No one was injured.

Fire Chief Donald Hisey was unable to give an estimate of the loss which is not covered by insurance.

The entire interior of the house was badly damaged, and the contents, including clothing, virtually ruined. Nothing was saved.

2 Persons Hurt In Road Mishaps

Highway Patrolmen Cite 4 Motorists

Two persons were hurt and four others were arrested in seven traffic mishaps on area highways Saturday and Sunday, state highway patrolmen said.

A 44-year-old Cleveland man and his wife were injured when their car went out of control on a curve, left the road and hit a tree on Rt. 14, two miles east of Salem ,at 7:40 p.m. Sunday.

The driver, Mrs. Gladus Peterson, 37, sustained multiple lacerations and abrasions of the face and arms.

The accident is still under investigation, highway patrolmen reported.

E. Liverpool Man Cited

A 20-year-old East Liverpool man was cited for reckless operation, hit-skip and driving without an operator's license following a mishap on Rt. 30, one and one half miles north of East Liverpool, at 2:50 a.m. Sunday.

Patrolmen said a car operated by Ronald Yost passed an unidentified car, went out of control and sideswiped an auto driven by George Kearnen, 22, of East Liverpool.

Yost failed to stop after the accident and he was arrested later by patrolmen.

Runs Into Embankment

In a mishap on County Road 424, two miles south of its intersection with Rt 40, at 9:15 p.m. Saturday, a car driven by James Eversole, 28, of Lisbon went off the road and crashed into an embankment.

Extensive damage was caused to the auto.

Eversole was cited for driving while intoxicated, patrolmen said.

At 11:50 p.m. Saturday, on Rt. 7, one and one-half miles north of Wellsville, a car driven by James Litton, 23, of East Liverpool crashed into the rear of an auto operated by Harold Sneddon, 42, of East Liverpool.

Litton was cited for reckless operation.

Coroner Rules Prober's Death Was Accidental

Ralph Winstead Was To Be Key Witness In Suit Against UAW

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP)—Ralph Winstead, missing chief investigator of the United Auto Workers whose body was pulled from Lake St. Clair Sunday, died of accidental drowning, a coroner's report said.

Winstead, 64, was to be a key witness in a 4½-million-dollar suit now under way against the union. Detroit police and state police. He vanished from his home near the lake Dec. 15 to "for a walk on the ice" and never returned. The following day he was scheduled to testify in the case.

His body was seen floating in the lake four blocks from his home by a passer-by.

Dr. Richard Olson, a Pontiac, Mich., pathologist who performed the autopsy with Macomb County Coroner Ray C. Markle, said Sunday night there were no signs indicating death other than by drowning.

State police said they have no orders to investigate further.

Some UAW officials have voiced suspicions of foul play.

Winstead was one of the defendants in a malicious prosecution suit brought against the UAW and others by Carl Renda, one of four men arrested in 1954 in connection with the 1948 shotgun wounding of Walter P. Reuther, UAW resident.

Winstead was scheduled to testify in the trial last Monday and was described by his attorney Walter M. Nelson as 'one of the most important witnesses in the case."

Winstead's wife Zena said on the day he disappeared he had been to the UAW's Solidarity House to look at some records. She said he left again shortly after he returned, saying he was going for the walk.

He was last seen near the ice over a canal in the vicinity of his home.

Renda's suit arose over a so-

Taylor Won't Seek State Office In '58

John Taylor of Salem, who was the Democratic nominee for lieutenant-governor last year, announced today that he would not seek any state political office in 1958.

Mr. Taylor said he hoped that his declaration would help to influence Clingan Jackson of Youngstown to file for the Democratic nomination for governor. Mr. Taylor added, "Because there is developing a serious demand for former Senator Jackson of Youngstown for governor of Ohio, I anticipate that this demand will be great enough to place such a responsibility upon Mr. Jackson that he will have to become a candidate for governor whether he wants to or not."

POPE DELIVERS CHRISTMAS MESSAGE. — Pope Pius XII gestures as he speaks into microphones at Vatican City, Sunday. In a Christmas message to the world, the 81-year-old spiritual head of the Roman Catholic Church, urged an end to an armaments race "endangering the fate of the human family and the earth itself." The pontiff spoke over the Vatican's powerful new radio station on a hookup with networks of a score of nations. It was probably the most widely broadcast message in history.

Pope Calls Upon World To Stop Arms Race

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII called on mankind Sunday to halt the arms race lest it lead to disaster and endanger the fate of "the earth itself." He implied that he endorses the West's proposals for controlled disarmament.

In his 19th annual Christmas message to the world, the 81-year-old pontiff counseled Christians not to fear Russia's current triumphs in the Sputnik field.

Such records, the leader of the Roman Catholic Church declared, were "often of very short duration."

The pontiff's speech, beamed to a host of nations by the Vatican's powerful new radio transmitter, was believed to be the most widely broadcast message in history.

As he did last Christmas, the Pope affirmed man's right for self defense, but he called on the governments of the world not to be mislead by pride in a race for arms supremacy.

The cost of an arms race is ruinous, he warned.

"Such quantities of material, such sums of money derived from savings and the result of restrictions and toil," he said, "such expenditures of human labor taken away from urgent need, are consumed to prepare these new arms."

"Even the wealthiest nations," he cautioned, "must foresee the times in which they will regret the dangerously weakened harmony of the national economy, or are in fact already regretting it,

Gen. Norstad Cites NATO's Aims on Rockets

Says Europe To Have Weapons in Time To Meet Red Threat

PARIS (AP)—Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe, said today NATO military circles want intermediate range ballistic missiles based on both land and sea.

He told a news conference the seaborne launching sites could take the form of submarines, surface vessels or even floating platforms that could be constructed off the coasts of NATO powers.

Norstad said he expected to make in a matter of weeks the necessary military recommendations as a first step to the establishment of missile base in Europe.

The commander said he expects that from 6 to 10 squadrons of 15 intermediate range missiles each will be established in Europe. These figures did not include the four missile sites contemplated in Britain, he added.

As a result of last week's NATO summit conference, he predicted, the Western Allies will have the missiles in Europe in good time to meet the growing Soviet threat from scientific advances.

The United States offered at the meeting to make missiles available to other countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Norstad did not pinpoint the locations of the new bases. But he said he foresaw no difficulty in their distribution.

"In some countries, for many reasons," he said, "it may be more difficult to do this than in other countries. But I am satisfied that the military requirement can and will be met under the formula agreed by the 15 heads of government."

He said it is not necessary from

Holiday Mail Season Over At Post Office

Although a total of 685,070 letters and greetings cards were mailed in the first three weeks of December, the Christmas mail this season was below the 709,252 record established last year, Superintendent of Mails Ray Reasbeck said today.

The mailings averaged 50 cards for every man, woman and child in the city, Mr. Reasbeck estimated.

He added that total mailings were down two per cent compared to the Christmas season last year.

However, the peak was reached last Tuesday when a new record of 95,000 pieces of mail was sent through the cancellation machine.

The Post Office windows will close at noon Tuesday because a half-holiday has been ordered by the President for all postal employes. City and rural carriers, however, will make their usual deliveries and get their time-off later.

All extra clerks and carriers finished up their work today. Prevailing good weather enabled carriers to move all mail promptly. Thirty-three extra helpers aided the regular crews.

Acting Postmaster Ray Reach expresed appreciation for the public's fine cooperation in mailing early.

WOMAN HURT IN FALL

Mrs. Charles Hanna, 56, of 125 E. Friend St., Columbiana sustained a fractured left ankle Saturday when she fell down the cellar steps at her home. She is reported in good condition at City Hospital.

Shoppers Given Advice By Chief of Police

Police Chief George T. Earley warned shoppers not to leave Christmas packages laying on the seat of their car.

"It's too near Christmas to have all your presents stolen just because you left packages in an unattended car," Earley said.

There is always a lot of stealing about two or three days before Christmas when the thieves realize they don't have enough money to buy their own presents, Earley indicated.

Chief Earley also urged all merchants to call the police station for an escort when they transport money from the store to the bank.

"Its might take a little longer to get the money to the bank but it virtually eliminates the possibility of an armed robbery," Earley said.

Lions Appeal For Entries In Light Event

The Lions Club lighting contest committee urges all persons to submit their entry blanks for the annual Christmas lighting contest. Twenty four prizes, including a grand prize of a $50 savings bond are to be awarded.

Only 26 entry blanks have been received, compared to a total of 72 at this time last year, Donald Reinard, a committee member in charge of the contest, announced today.

All entry blanks should be in by Dec. 27, the night of the judging.

Entry blanks for the contest are appearing in the News.

The prizes will be given in the following six categories:

1. City outside decorations.
2. Rural outside decorations.
3. City doorway.
4. Rural doorway.
5. Best decorated Christmas tree that can be seen from the street.
6. Best religious display.

Five persons, non-residents of Salem who have a good knowledge of lighting displays will judge the contest.

No Lions Club members are eligible for prizes.

Mount Choir Plans Holiday Trip West

Although the Christmas season is traditionally one of vacation for the college students, it is not so for the 50-voice Mount Union College Choir.

Members of the choir leave the day after Christmas for Lawrence, Kansas, where they will provide choral music for the Quadrennial Conference of the Methodist Student Movement, Dec. 27 to Jan. 1.

The choir will also sing in the world premiere on New Year's Eve of the oratorio "The Invisible Fire" by Cecil Effinger. This program will climax the meetings and services in Lawrence.

On its return trip to the Mount Union campus, the choir will sing at Leavenworth, Kansas; Carbondale, Ill.; Indianapolis, and Marion, O.

Directed by Professor Cecil Stewart, the choir has also been featured on network radio programs including National Vespers and National Radio Pulpit.

Salem Family Reports Seeing Red Satellite

A Salem family believes they saw Sputnik last night at 6:06.

Members of the Gilbert Timm family of Sharp St. said it appeared to the naked eye and through medium-powered binoculars as a round golden ball which "twinkled like a star" moving from west to east.

The ball was observed for about five minutes, according to the Timms, who said it was on the rim of the horizon with the planet Venus above it.

However, the Case Institute of Technology observatory officials earth's shadow before it reached its highest point Sunday and that the Sputnik will not be seen for the next several weeks.

Petition To Reorganize Filed by Pottery Firm

EAST PALESTINE — A petition was filed this morning before a federal judge in Cleveland asking for a reference order to certify the reorganization and refinancing pogam of the W. S. George Pottery Co. back to Atty. Ross E. Diser of Youngstown, district bankruptcy official.

The petition, which has been in the preparatory process for over a month, contains a complete statement of the firm's assets and liabilities, all contracts including patents involving the company and the suggested reorganization plan.

The plan calls for a 100 per cent cash settlement with secured creditors, a 50-cents-on-the dollar settlement with unsecured creditors, a change in the company corporate setup, and transfer of debentures held by the heirs of the late W. S. George to non-voting preferred stock and settlement of 60-cents-on-the-dollar.

If the order is approved by the federal judge, then a campaign will be instigated in the community to collect the $200,000 in pledges which were received during the latter part of October and early in November from over 200 in-

Six Other Fatalities Reported

13 Lives Snuffed Out On State's Highways

By The Associated Press

There'll be no Christmas for 13 persons out of the millions who ride Ohio's highways each weekend.

There'll be no singing of Jingle Bells, no watching the smile of a child opening a present on Christmas morn, no toasting in of the new year for them.

For these 13 are dead—Killed in traffic accidents on the weekend before Christmas.

And it won't be much of a Christmas for their families either.

Take William Lisle Shipman, for instance. He has a wife and four young children—or rather he had a wife and four young children.

Shipman, 27, was driving to work Saturday from his home in Chardon to Cleveland where he worked as a die maker

Perhaps Shipman was tired from too much Christmas shopping At any rate, sheriff's deputies said, he apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

His car ltft a road about 2½ miles south of Burton. It rolled over three times. It hit an embankment. It threw Shipman out. His skull was crushed. His four children, Thomas, 7, Bonnie 5, and the twins, Garry and Barry, 4 became fatherless in a split second.

The family had planned to move into a new home after the Christmas holiday friends said.

There were six other fatalities of miscellaneous nature in The Associated Press weekend survey which covered the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The fatalities:

Friday night:

Marine Lt. W. J. Wojciechowski, stationed at Cabaniss Field, Corpus Christi, Tex., when the Navy AD3 fighter plane he was piloting crashed and exploded in a farm field near Van Wert.

Charles Love, 35, Mantua, Portage County, when his car hit a guard rail on Ohio 82 northeast of Ravenna, overturned and caught fire.

Dr. Samuel Phillip Studybaker, 35, Columbus, when his auto rammed into a bridge abutment two miles north of Columbus on Ohio 257.

Saturday:

William R. Elsebernd, 19, Cincinnati, when he apparently fell asleep and his car crashed into two trees on a Cincinnati street.

Jack Logan, 20, Union City, Ind. when the car in which he was riding hit a bridge abutment on the State Line Road, three miles south west of Celina.

William Lisle Shipman, 27, Chardon, when his car rolled over three times and hit an embankment on a road 2½ miles south of Burton.

Parry W. Berdine, 53, Newark, when his car collided with a dump truck on Ohio 77 about nine miles north of Marietta.

Elisha Green, 55, Cleveland, in an auto collision on U.S. 42 near Medina.

Edward Magliere, 22, Cleveland, shot when a pistol discharged while a friend was examining it.

Leroy Lloyd, 32, Cleveland, when he tripped on loose gravel while running to catch a bus and fell from a 45-foot overpass onto railroad tracks below.

Elzy Benson Kinney, about 58, Mount Gilead, in a two-car collison at the intersection of U.S. 30 and Ohio 746 in Marion County.

Lother Jenson, 17, Mansfield, in a two-car collisio on U.S. 30 about 1½ miles east of Galion in Crawford County.

Mrs. Margaret Thuma, 58, Columbus, struck by a car as she crossed a Columbus street.

Mrs Laura Rothenstein, 50, Uhrichsville, in a collision of two cars and a truck at the intersection of Ohio 16 and 310 just north of Pa-

Portsmouth, when a jack slipped while he was working on his car and the car fell on him.

Sunday:

Richard Bowman, 45, Rt. 2, Ironton, of injuries received Saturday when the truck he was driving overturned on Ohio 35 near James-

Charles Hartu, 18, of near town.

Mrs. Ben Cunningham, 80, Bainbridge Twp., near Chardon, when a coal stove apparently exploded, setting her home afire.

Clevenger Not To Run in '58

Won't Seek Election To Seat in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cliff Clevenger, 72-year-old Ohio Republican with nearly 20 years of service in the House, announced today he won't seek re-election next year.

The white haired Clevenger, a conservative who often saw traces of the New Deal in the Eisenhower Administration, thus becomes the second Ohio incumbent to withdraw in recent weeks.

About a week ago, Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio), who came to Congress the same year, 1939, as Clevenger, said he intends to return to law practice and teaching at the close of the next session.

Clevenger's announcement that he will retire, issued through his office, offered no explanation for his decision.

However, it is known that one factor is his health. He has high blood pressure.

During his early years in the House, the Bryan, Ohio, Republican fought long and hard against just about every aspect of Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal.

Then, after President Eisenhower assumed office, Clevenger objected to a number of things the GOP administration did, too.

One of these policies was spending money abroad to help countries in financial difficulties during the post-war period.

As an aide to Clevenger put it: "He never voted for a penny for foreign aid in his life."

Clevenger also had considerable say-so about spending money immediately after Eisenhower was first elected, since he was chairman of an appropriations subcommittee.

Among other things, this subcommittee provided money for the State Department. One of Clevenger's complaints was the Voice of America. He considered it a waste of taxpayers' money.

More recently, Clevtnger was the only Ohio Republican in the House to vote against the administration's civil rights bill.

Politicians regard Clevenger's district, the fifth, as normally safe for most any Republican candidate.

The grodp sang Christmas carols accompanied on the accordion by Miss Knight. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Edward Knight.

The Sunday School class of Westville Church ,taught by Virginia Fryfogle, was entertained on Wednesday evening in the church basement with fourteen present. Games were played and a Christmas exchange was held and lunch served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Oesch of Stow visited their aunt, Mrs. Charlotte Oesch, Sunday afternoon.

Blame Benson For Everything!

Ezra Taft Benson, the Mormon elder who has been trying without much success to make sense of federal policy in agriculture will not be overjoyed by the Agriculture Department's report of bumper crops in 1957.

Bumper crops are Benson's problem — not the crops, in themselves, because they make the United States the first major nation in history to have enough to eat — but the circumstances of their production.

Not only was the 1957 crop yield taken from the least number of acres since the United States was only 60 per cent as populous as it is now. It was produced by the smallest proportion of agricultural workers in history — less than a third of the population, based on the Census Bureau's definition of farm dwellers, and probably as few as a fourth of the population on a stricter definition of what really constitutes a farmer.

This is the rub of Secretary of Agriculture Benson's problem — how to administer economic balance in an ever-smaller occupation group with ever-growing potentialities of production, thanks to technological progress.

His problem has been complicated by the intercession of politicians and by the inescapable fact that the well-being of farmers, like the well-being of other occupations, is the very essence of politics in popular government.

His personal policy as a cabinet officer in the Eisenhower administration is to put the most efficient farm producers in a position to command adequate prices for adequate production. His political duty as a member of the Republican party is to keep the entire agricultural minority in the United States reasonably well satisfied with the party's political stewardship.

Consequently, he cannot get the authority he would like to have to shrink federal subsidies for agricultural production which piles up unwieldy surpluses that depress prices and keeps the Department of Agriculture off balance.

The easiest way to understand why he, or any other secretary of agriculture, cannot be either an administrative or a political hero is to compare what he is trying to do with what would happen if the secretary of commerce, for example, were to be responsible for juggling supply and demand in the auto industry with a federal subsidy stimulating overproduction of cars. It could not be done even in an industry whose production is subject to control.

Agricultural production is literally beyond control, as has been demonstrated by record production on minimum acreage with minimum manpower. Agricultural producers are independent. They are scattered throughout the country. They are the last strongehold of individualism in the American enterprise system. They cannot be regimented.

The irony of their position in the mid-20th century is that they have achieved what farmers have dreamed of for centuries — the ability to produce enough to feed everybody dependent on them. But having achieved it, they now are desirous of achieving economic equity with industrial workers. And that, too, is Elder Benson's problem.

Military Mind Gets a New Lease

West Point Military Academy soon will be asking Congress for enough money to double its output of graduates.

Even before the civilian push for more emphasis on mathematics and science began with Sputnik I, West Point and Annapolis were angling for more applicants. The new Air Force school under construction at Colorado Springs also will be beating the bushes for applicants willing to tackle its tough curriculum.

The same urgency that is causing the nation to show respect for the possessors of brilliant minds is causing the educators of its military officers to wonder about creating a more adequate supply.

The military mind, proverbially distinguished by lack of flexibility and brilliance, must be upgraded and vastly multiplied to meet the challenge of modern technology.

Yet, at the instant the academy - trained officers of tomorrow are being made aware of their added responsibilities to the people paying for their education, there is a cold misgiving about one detail of their training.

This is the inordinate emphasis on their identity as students in West Point, Annapolis and the new Air Force Academy, at the expense of their identity as future officers of the combined military forces of the United States.

There is no such thing in either voluntary or state - supported education as the standoffishness that has handicapped cooperation among the officers of the Army, Navy and Air Force in the development of missiles.

Graduates of Massachusetts Institute of Technology do not look down their noses at their associates who happen to be graduates of Renssalaer Polytechnical Institute. Ohio Staters and Michiganders do not try to outdo each other once they have left the campus. The men of Harvard and Yale manage to get along with each other amicably when they have put aside their undergraduate rivalry.

Congress is the agent of the American people in whatever decision will be forthcoming about expanding West Point and, presumably, the other military academies.

There is no room for dispute about the need for more highly - trained officers to shoulder the responsibilities of military leadership in an age of endless technological miracles.

But there is room for questioning about provincialism in the thinking of the men whose educations are paid for by all the people for the common defense of the United States. "The old school tie" has become a luxury to which taxpayers never will grow accustomed, now that they have seen what can happen to a vital defense project when the Army, Navy and Air Force end up a standoff.

Perhaps William Girard, the former Army specialist who was the central figure in a sensational incident in Japan, cannot be allowed to drop out of the news.

Perhaps this young man must be encouraged to pose as an authority on treaties and say things put into his mouth by others. Perhaps he must be badgered and hounded by news-hawks wherever he goes. It may even be necessary for his frightened Janapese bride to be put through the flaming hoops of publicity because names make news and 'Candy" is the nickname of a person who made a name for herself.

But if ever there was a situation that called for a free press to show restraint in publicizing the affairs of two young persons who need to be let alone, the Girard situation is it. The sooner William Girard and his Japanese wife return to the obscurity out of which they were catapulted by the irresponsibility of themselves and others, the better it will be for them — and all the rest of us.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Warfare had desolated the earth, ushering in an era of hatred and misery. "Daddy, tell me about Santa Claus," the child asked, and daddy made a good try.

"He's been replaced by Santa Beep-Beep." he said. "You mustn't mention Santa Claus. There are severe penalties because he was the good saint of love, charity and eternal peace, all of which have been put on the black list. Once upon a time children looked into the heavens for a jolly old elf and reindeer, but now they look for rockets and spaceships. In the Christmas season there once glowed the spirit of the manger and holy night.

'Homes were radiant with spruce and hemlock, gaily decorated to glorify a heart-warming season for children. It was away back when the smallest tree seemed more important than great devices of steel and iron. In those days the tiniest silver ball had a wider influence than the largest missile-launching station. A candy cane or cornucopia seemed a creation eclipsing anything a scientist could produce.

"TWO WORDS stood out above all others. They were 'Fear not!' No one was afraid of anybody. Yu will find it hard t believe nw, child. There was one great light. It was flashed by the Star of Bethlehem. here was no man-made moons to desecrate it.

"In the mind of man came the first cries of a Babe in a manager. No sane person listened for the roar of guided missiles or other instruments of death.

"There were shepherds watching their flocks by night, and no specialists watching man-made moon flights.

"Above everything else there stood out the love of little children, with concern for their happiness, not for their fast development as scientists and engineers. But that's all for now, child. You won't understand it. Popper will now read you the test of the latest government edicts, five-year plans and warnings. Then you must get out of his lap and think about being a physicist. Merry beep-beep and a happy count-down!"

Art Linkletter's son is an extra capable TV emcee. Following in father's quiz-steps.

Month's most punch-packing video drama was not written by anybody, but was a presentation of actual movies showing Mussolini from march on Rome to his finish dangling from a meat-hook in an obscure mountain village. Today's dictators should get a look at this one, so forcefully telling the story of a trouble-making, would-be conqueror, posturing, screaming and "hamming it up" before applauding populace, only to wind up derided and mutilated.

Have you noticed from pictures how easily modern autos seem to crumple up after a collision? Earliest models could "take it" and come out with far less damage, it seems to us.

"'America the Beautiful' Is a Wonderful Song, But . . ."

New York GOP Victory

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Without the casting of a single vote or the passing of a law or a speech, or the wiggle of a finger in the administration in Washington, Republican hopes of carrying New York next year have increased 100 per cent.

A Republican state senator from Manhattan has launched a plan for release from an arrogant labor monopoly and has ended a long painful transportation tieup in the busiest season of the year.

The tieup originated in the refusal of a small union of subway motormen — skilled and responsible workers — to be bullied into merging their identity with Mike Quill's CIO Transport Workers Union.

The politically created New York Transit Authority, two members of which are chosen by Mayor Wagner and Gov. Harriman and the third chosen by the first two, decreed that the union headed by Mike Quill be sole bargainer for all transport workers.

THEREUPON the Transit Authority suddenly and probably illegally, obtained an injunction against the striking motormen, and a judge threw the leaders of their union into jail for contempt. Then the Transit Authority and the mayor, under deep political obligations to Quill, began systematically to crush the strike.

With harried Christmas shoppers, city workers, and commuters screamed for relief, there was loud talk about an "illegal strike," the usual "No - talk - until - you - go - back - to - work," etc. Al this about the defiance of an injunction against a union in a city in which the Fiorello LaGuardia co - author of an anti - injunction law had been mayor and hero for 12 years.

It is not to the credit of the major New York newspapers that they joined in this hue and cry against the motormen.

It was evident, however, that Quill's union members themselves, as well as a substantial number of thoughtful people, saw the thing as it was — the struggle of a minority for justice against a political alliance between Tammany and Mike Quill's CIO.

My first knowledge of this underlying resentment came a week ago at a meeting of a Republican district club in the heart of Manhattan. There were present several members of the Quill union who spoke their heartfelt hatred of the Quill tyranny.

A DAY OR TWO later, in another section of Manhattan, a Republican state senator, MacNeil Mitchell, proposed legislation for the coming session of the Republican - controlled legislature. This would give all unions, large and small the right to appeal to the State Labor Reations Board over the decisions of the Transit Authority. Republican leaders of the State Senate and House quickly pledged passage of the bill.

This would put Gov. Harriman on the spot. To veto such a bill would be to confess his obligation to Quill. To sign it would enrage Quill.

Meanwhile, a poll of a transport workers indicates that a two-thirds majority refused to vote in the T.W.U. election. This is a measure of the unpopularity of Quill among his own members.

This successful Republican coup should be a warning to Labor Secretary Mitchell and other people in the Washington administration who seem to be willing to appease union monopolies.

It should also give more courage to people elsewhere, like Sen. Knowland in California, who are willing to put the right to work on the line next year.

The Final Tally

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—If your holiday isn't merry, don't blame it on businessmen. They tried.

The final tally today and Tuesday will show if total retail store sales push above last season's record dollar volume. The two years are running neck and neck in the stretch.

Christmas spirit this year seems to have risen above talk of recession. Stephen Q. Shannon, executive director of the Greeting Card Assn. estimated that 200 million more Christmas cards made by some 300 manufacturers, are being sent this year than last. Since sales are averaging around 11 cents a card, total retail dollar volume will come to 260 million dollars compared with 245 million dollars in 1956. An extra 70 million dollars will be spent in mailing them.

Makers of decorative lighting say sales are 10 per cent ahead this year and should come to 110 million dollars.

A 12 per cent increase in ordering flowers by wire is estimated by John Bodette, general manager of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Assn.

He says total dollar volume for the holiday season—starting with Thanksgiving and running through New Years — should reach 5½ million dollars.

Many retail stores and mail order houses increased their catalogues this season, both in size and circulation. Sears, Roebuck mailed 7½ million of its 418 page Christmas books at a cost of 5½ million dollars. F. W. Woolworth sent out 4¼ millions, and Allied Stores three million, or 600 thousand more than last year.

Luxury items were featured in most stores. Elgin National Watch Co. of Elgin, Ill., reports that jewelers stocked more higher priced watches this season.

And the Anthracite Information Bureau of New York found a silver lining to that industry's cloud of woes—also in the jewelry shops. Polished anthracite coal nuggets set in sterling silver are on sale as bracelets, rings, free form earring, necklace pendant, tie bars, cuff links, cocktail picks, demitasse spoons, and highball spoons.

Inter-Planet Travel

By JERRY KLEIN

How to Furnish the Family Rocket Ship

Now that science has its foot in the doorway to space, it's time to start thinking about how to furnish your first family rocket ship so you can meet the rigid demands of interplanetary travel.

The months or even years that it will take to complete tours through the mysterious environment of outer space will require you to stay in top notch physical and mental shape at all times.

That's why some of the best brains of modern science are trying to design interplanetary travel accommodations to combine the most elaborate safety devices imaginable with all the comforts of home.

Dr. Eugene B. Konecci, one of the top outer space research specialists for Douglas Aircraft Co., points to future development of a special sealed flight cabin as essential to man's conquest of the dangerous environmental conditions of outer space by permanently storing the atmosphere of the earth.

'IN THE NEAR FUTURE sealed cabin research and development should reduce if not solve the majority of high altitude problems," Dr. Konecci explains. "Sealed" cabins would afford pilots and crews safety, comfort and freedom of movement without the encumbrance of a pressure suit."

What it will take to provide ideal living conditions within the sealed cabin was revealed by the Douglas Aircraft scientist at a recent meeting of the American Rocket Society.

First of all there's the problem of keeping clean. Dr. Konecci explains that a shower will become a necessity rather than a luxury. Also, you'll need a laundry for a fresh set of clothes every two days. And your clothes will have to be light weight and fast drying.

Since supermarkets probably won't be built on other plants for years after the first space flight, you'll need to stock up on plenty of dried, frozen or sealed package food. Some of it might even be in pill form.

IF YOU'RE THE nervous type who has to pace the floor, you'll just have to learn to sit back and take it easy. The lack of gravity will probably cause you to spend a lot of time strapped to a chair fastened to guide rails.

This will enable you to scoot around the floor of the rocket ship without fear of suddenly banging your head on the ceiling. Flash lights, important hand tools and pencils will be magnetized so they will be readily available.

Actually a trip to Mars is likely to be more relaxing than a luxurious Caribbean cruise. A slight case of the jitters when flying thousands of miles into outer space could lead to disaster. Thus, supreme comfort becomes an absolute necessity.

THE SHIP'S INTERIOR should be well lighted. And its decor should be as aesthetically pleasing as the inside of a ritzy penthouse apartment.

Automatic controls will eliminate the danger of driver fatigue. All you should have to do is occasionally check a highly simplified control panel to make sure everything is running right.

And if you should collide with a meteor, just remain calm. You stand a better chance of surviving than if you were involved in an auto crash.

Dr. Konecci explains that the hull of the cabin could be made of two layers of pressure resistant material. A self-sealing substance sandwiched in between would automatically repair any dangerous holes caused by a meteor collision. And just in case this didn't work, passengers could still jump into emergency pressurized space suits.

BUT NO MATTER how many elaborate safety devices are invented, manned space flight will still be impossible until some method is developed to continually supply passengers with good, clean air.

Scientists are trying to develop systems of burning up dangerous carbon dioxide and turning some of it into life giving oxygen.

One uses algae to adapt the principles of photosynthesis into a special air producing device. Photosynthesis is what enables green plants to convert carbon dioxide and solar rays into energy and release oxygen in the process.

Dr. Konecci explains another method of recovering oxygen from carbon dioxide involves the use of copper and ultraviolet rays.

From Our Readers

The Meaning of Christmas

When I say Christmas I mean not only Christmas day, but also the Christmas Season, and of course the coming of the Lord into the world and all that He has provided.

We think of Christmas in many ways, but probably that which comes to our minds first as we think of this question, is what we consider to be the most important about Christmas. Now that you have your answer in mind let me ask you a question, "Are you getting the best out of Christmas?"

Our Lord used this question method to help people on many occasions. He did not ask questions carelessly. Each question was asked for a definite purpose, either to direct the attention of others to their heart condition or to some circumstance in their life. Example: Mark 2:8-9, Matt. 12:11-12.

My purpose in asking these questions is that I hope to challenge others to give more thought to the significance of 'christmas. The following is a word picture of Christmas in it's spiritual and earthly meaning.

Christmas means: (1) Fun — Choosing and trimming the tree, shopping for others, receiving and seeing cards, and counting the days until Christmas.

(2) Food — Turkey, dressing, cranberries, and lots of rich desserts.

(3) — Fellowship — Visiting with friends to see their tree and gifts. Inviting folks in and hoping that others will come of their own accord.

(4) Home — At this time of year we all turn in the direction of home. Some homes, mother's step is quick and certain, and in her eyes we can see dreams for anticipaated years ahead .In other homes mother's life is far spent. Sire wonders if this might be her last Christmas with loved ones. Dad, with his son by his side, daughters doting over him, and his grandchildren at his feet, hopes the day will never end.

(5) Hope — Hope of forgiveness, Hope of deliverance from sin. Hope of rising to a higher plane of moral living. Hope of Heaven, a hope that brightens life's darkest hour.

(6) Heaven — John 14:2,3. Christmas means Heaven is within the reach of every one of us. Through the Lord Jesus we can make Heaven our eternal abode if we determine too.

(7) Gifts — Packages wrapped in gay colored paper, pretty ribbons and big bows. For dad, shirts and ties and slippers, to add to the good supply he already has. From little ones we receive gifts wrapped in a clumsy fashion, others deem their presents to be worthless, but we esteem them priceless.

(8) Grace — The unmerited favor of God, John 3:16. We no longer need to be slaves to sin. No longer need be victims of bad habits and appetites. No longer need to blame others or circumstances or to make excuses for ourselves. We can by His grace be what we ought to be.

(9) God — Incarnate in Human flesh. God came to reveal Himself, His love, His will. He came to lift and to satisfy man. To restore His image in man.

Have you been getting the best out of Christmas?

Glendon McKenzie,
196 S. Union Ave.

So They Say

I want to live to vote once — just once. — Hungarian-born Mrs. Elizabeth Szaniszlo, 79, of Alcoa, Tenn., after receiving the U.S. citizenship she sought for 47 years.

The nation should avoid channeling its military capabilities to the point where it will be forced to choose between an all-out nuclear war and a course of helpless inaction. — Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, Chief of Naval Operations, warning against overemphasis on missiles.

RAPHAEL The Herald Angel

By DAVID APPEL and MERLE HUDSON

CHAPTER 4

Even a newcomer to the Beautiful City would have realized that this was a special day.

Wherever they went, whatever they did, the angels of Heaven could think of nothing and speak of nothing but the Gift that was to be given to man that night.

"Tonight," they murmured to each other, "the Child will be born."

Wherever they went, whatever thty did, they uttered prayers of gratitude.

"Tonight," they said to each other in hushed tones, "mankind will come to see how dearly God loves the world."

In the large hal at the very end of the corridor, the Heaveny Choir had just completed the last rehearsal. This time the performance was perfect in every detail; not even the cherubim wr promptd to mar its absolute beauty.

Now all that remained was to wait.

THE MOMENTS passed. Messengers were poised to soar into the air from one corner of Heaven to the next to announce that the Great Event was taking place. The scribes sat with their books open, their pens ready.

"Lemuel, Lemutl!" whispered Raphael as he nervously knotted and twisted the ribbon from which his pitch pipe dangled, "have I forgotten anything? Will it be all right? Are we prepared?"

"It will be magnificent, my friend," the tenor assured him.

"Oh, Lemuel, I pray that you are right."

The musicians tuned their instruments. Clouds floated gently in the sky. The Star of Bethlehem rose high in the Heavens.

AND ON EARTH, it was the time when all the men and women had been ordered to their cities to be taxed.

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

..And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; because he was of the house and lineage of David:

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished. . .

A Child was born in a manager.

Above, at that very instant, behind the silver curtain of clouds, silently, with scarcely a rustle of their wings and robes, the Heavenly choirs were assembling. From the Gates of the Beautiful City, down starlit paths, they streamed to their appointed places.

RAPHAEL, the Herald Angel, stood before his singers, ready to give them the long-rehearsed, long-awaited signal. The choirs watched their leader breathlessly.

Raphael closed his eyes in sient prayer and thanksgiving. Then slowly he raised his arms—high-high, higher. This was the moment! The air was charged with expectancy. No night had ever been so still, yet so softly alive.

Down, down swept the Herald Angel's arms!

Lemuel, whose voice was the most beautiful in all Heaven, waked slowly through the silver clouds, briiant white beams from one bright star illuminating his way. His voice filled the universe as he smiled gently, tenderly down at earth:

fear not, fear not! for behod I bring you good tidings of great joy, Which shall be to all people.

NOW LEMUEL moved coser to earth, repeating his message; and again his rich tones reached to the earth and stars:

For unto you is born this day In the city of David a Saviour, Which is Christ the Lord. And this sha be a sign unto you: Ye shall find the Babe wrapped In swaddling clothes — lying in a manger!

Lemuel sang the passage comfortingly, lovingly, proudly; and as he concluded Raphael felt upon his cheek the soft wind that had come to draw back the cloudkurtain.

Down swept the choirmaster's hand for the signal to all the choirs to unite their voices. Jubilant praise burst in a celestial cascade from the Heavenly Singers.

HOW THE MUSIC and the words reached into one's spirit!

How the great choir matched the great occasion!

With what feeling did they magnify the Lord!

With what range and volume did their voices echo among the stars!

"Never, never before have angles sung for mortals," thought the Herald Angel.

Now, for the very first time, it was happening. Surely, felt Raphael, no one could resist this revelation, the splendor of this night, or the power of this mighty sound.

Even at this moment, he knew, the people on earta would be yearning to shout their praises and to sing of their adoration. And he would give them the signal which would invite them to join in the Heavenly hymn!

THE CHOIR was approaching those final lines, that place where the Herald Angel would carry out his plan. Heaven and earth, in song together! Angels and man, as one great voice!

Just one more instant! And then the choirs were triumphantly singing the majestic words, "Glory to God in the Highest."

Slowly the Herald Angel turned toward earth. With his left hand he led the Haleujah Choir, the Angelus, the Jubiee singers, the Vesper Chorus and the cherubim.

With his right hand he would give the signal to mankind. NOW! he cried aloud, and his arm descended! NOW!

No wave of human voices, no sea of hallelujahs, no mighty hymn. Nothing except the half cry of a new-born child.

THE HEAVENLY CHOIR had finished its hymn; Raphael looked earthward in astonishment. No throng was gazing unto Heaven — only a few shepherds in a field, who seemed sore afraid.

Above, the star was bright; from the manger there radiated a glorious light. But elsewhere there was only darkness.

Raphael's gaze swept the Judaean landscape. There were no throngs moving worshipfully toward Bethlehem. He turned to the distance, and could see no multitude coming over the hills. He turned to search the streets of the little town, but again he heard only the cry of a child.

"It is impossible," thought the Herald Angel, "that we have been singing, and that none but a few shepherds heard us. Impossible!"

Yet the hills and the streets were dark and empty and quiet. There was no evidence that mankind was aware of the beauty and the wonder of this night; even the shepherds on the hillside were yet silent and still, only confused by the signs above.

SORROW SUCH has he never had known before filled Raphael.

"I have failed," he said. "I have failed.'

Somehow, somewhere, he had made a grievous error. Perhaps he had frightened mankind. Perhaps he had not chosen the proper words, the music which would help the people of earth to understand the Heavenly message.

The fault, he decided as he looked down into the indifferent darkness and silence of the earth was his. Because he had labored in vain, because he — Raphael, the Herald Angel, God's messenger and envoy — had not performed wel the work of the Lord the Lord's message had not been embraced.

All the preparation, all the long hours of rehearsal, all those hymns which had seemed to him so magnificent, all those singers he had believed to be so glorious —all this was for nought.

How could he have judged himself sufficient to the task? How could a choirmaster who had never been out of the Beautifu City halve convinced himself that he could arouse a mankind to song and worship?

"THEY DID NOT HEAR," he said to himself. "They did not understand. They did not welcome the news. I have failed with the most important assignment I have ever had."

For the first time tears of deepest melancholy glistened in an angels' eyes.

Without a word, Raphael signaled the choirs to return to the Beautiful City. Slowly, silently, sadly the singers filed back into the clouds.

Lemuel lingered, offering his hand to help Raphael ascend to Heaven.

"Tell me, dear friend," asked the Herald Angel, what did I do that was wrong? Where did I make my mistake? The people did not hear us, Lemuel. They did not hear."

But the tenor could give no answer.

STILL, RAPHAEL knew, the most painful moment was yet to come — for in the Mighty Place his report was awaited. He could not tarry, and he did not.

Within the great hall there was the usual activity: the elders consulting, the scribes busy with their scrolls and pens, the messengers moving rapidly in and out of the hall.

Gabriel was there, trumpet ready as always, and Michael, his hand on his sheathed, blazing sword.

But as Raphael entered, all activity ceased. All eyes turned as he approached the front of the room, his heart deepy troubed, his eyes downcast.

"Raphael'," spoke the Great Voice ,"be not troubled. Do not give yourself up to thoughts of failure. I know what is in your heart, and I can see what is in your mind. Know this, you have done well. Even as I commanded, you carried out your task. I am pleased'.'

THE HERALD ANGEL replied: "If, indeed, my task was done according to Thy wishes, pease grant me one request."

"What is it, my son?"

"Now that my work is finished," Raphael said softly, "I would like to be relieved of my duties as director of the Hallelujah Choir."

Everyone had heard, but no one dared believe his ears. This had never happened before. It would be like Gabriel putting aside his trumpet or Michael unbuckling his sword.

Then the Great Voice spoke again: "As you wish, Raphael. You may withdraw as director of the Hallelujah Choir. Perhaps a period of meditation would be helpful."

"I am grateful," said the Herald Angel, and turned to leave

But the Great Voice interrupted him.

"Remember this, my son; you were responsible tonight only for the duty you performed faitnfully and well."

RAPHAEL HESITATED to speak again, but the burden on him was heavy.

"Father," he said, "Thine angel choirs never sang so beautifully as they did this night. Thy universe was never so lovely. No message has ever been more wonderful But it was as though no one seemed to care.

"I do not yet know how or where or when I failed, or what I overlooked. For Thy sweet forgiveness I give deep thanks; but within me is the feeling that I have erred. I cannot understand, I cannot understand. . ."

Shaking his head in sorrow, the Herald Angel withdrew. Gabriel spoke to him as he left, and so did Michael, but Raphael only nodded mutely. He returned to his office down the long corridor. There on the desk he made a neat stack of the papers and notes which he had accumulated during the many long months of work and rehearsal.

In the hall he felt someone brush against him, an angel sweeping swiftly through the corridor. It was the Angel of Death, hurrying toward the great, shining Gates.

One of the nearby messengers explained: "The Angel of Death is going to earth. There has been a slaughter of innocent children."

"Yes, Raphael," added another, 'one of the lesser kings seeks to destroy the Gift. But he had been foiled. Mary and Joseph have been warned, and have fled."

The news brought deeper sorrow to the Herald Angel. Had mankind heard God's message, their children would be safe. The Child would be their Prince of Peace.

"If only they had heard!" he thought. "If only I had not failed!"

NEXT: The Herald Angel's message is heard.

Guarding Your Health

Questions and Answers

Today's first question cannot be answered without more information but it does raise an interesting problem.

Q — Please say something about a condition in which the parotid gland becomes stopped up, causing swelling. This first occurred almost seven years ago and has happened about once every two years since, though it has occurred more often the last year. The swelling lasts one or two days, is not always on the same side and is not painful, but causes discomfort when eating. — Mrs. R. H.

A — The parotid glands produce saliva and lie in front of the two ears. Probably there most common disorder is mumps. Sometimes one or both becomes infected with germs and swell: this commonly carries the name of surgical mumps. The symptoms in Mrs. H.'s case suggest, however, an intermittent blockage of the duct or passageway leading from the parotid gland into the mouth. Possibly this is the result of stone formatioon with the stones bobbing up and down and thus producing symptoms only from time to time. In order to avoid more serious difficulty, however, it would be wise to have the passageways and the glands examined, with possible removal of the stones if such are present.

Q — Recently one of my relatives had a carbuncle. Would you please say something about this. —Mrs. H. A.

A — This is an infection lying rather deep in the tissues and may occur in almost any part of the body. Some patients respond fairly well to treatment with antibiotics, but some may still have to be cut into surgically and the infection allowed to drain off.

Q — Please tell me if there is anything that can be done for ear noises caused by harding of the arteries — D.M.

A — Unfortunately, hardening of the arteries, no matter where located, is up to this time an irrversible process. Consquently, I fear there is nothing of a practical nature which can be suggested for ear noises of this origin.

Q — Would you please discuss a fistula. Can one heal without medical aid? —L.

A —This question refers presumably to a passageway near the outlet of the digestive tract. It is thought that sometimes this is of tuberculous origin . While the symptoms frequently come and go, a fistula does not heal itself. The only curative treatment is removal by surgery of the entire wall of the passageway. Sometimes the operation necessary iscsnedioraboperation necessary is considerably more lengthy and complicated than is anticipated.

Santa and the STRONG BOY

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

(Chapter 17)

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

SYNOPSIS: Santa gives Richard the golden thread and the black diamond so he will always remember to be a proper prince. He also tells him the soldiers of King Ignatz are at the gates of Mitzenpoo and promises to take him there on his sleigh.

Santa and Richard sped through the cold silent night. On and on they went above the sleeping world until they came to the Kingdom of Mitzenpoo.

Richard peered over the side of the sleigh. He saw his father's palace with a light shining from every window. In the courtyard the people of Mitzenpoo huddled while a hoard of foreign soldiers battered at the gates.

"I'm coming!" shouted the prince. But no one looked up or seemed to hear.

"We are invisible as long as we are in the sleigh," said Santa. "No one can see or hear us on the sleigh until I crack my whip. Hang on, now, we are going down."

GENTLY THE REINDEER brought the sliegh to a halt on the palace roof. Richard leaped out and climbed down the sides of the palace wall to the courtyard below.

"Everything will be all rght!" he shouted to the people huddled in the corners. "Don't be afraid!"

The people looked at him in astonishment. "Who is it?" they asked among themselves and Richard heard others answer, "It's the coward prince come back too late. What good is he to Mitzenpoo?"

Richard rushed into the palace. He found his father sitting at his desk surrounded by his guards. The king's face was grey with cares and grief. His hand shook as he signed a paper before him on the desk.

"Father, father! I am here!"

THE OLD KING stared at Richard in sorrow. "So you are back" he wispered. "Ah, poor wretch. You cannot help what you are but things would have been different if only you had been a proper prince — wise and brave and strong.

"Now I am dying and there is no one else to lead our soldiers or save our people. I surrender now to Ignatz of Ketchikan who henceforth will rule in Mitzenpoo."

"Never!" cried Richard. He snatched up the paper and tore it into pieces. Then he drew his black diamond dagger and turned towards the guards.

"Follow me!"

The astonished guards followed him as he charged out of the palace and the people seeing him, took up sticks and rushed along behind the guards.

Richard threw open the gate and faced King Ignatz and the soldiers of Ketchikan.

"LEAVE OUR LAND or surrender!" cried Richard.

Ignatz stared and burst into laughter. "It's the strong boy himself!" he cried. "The halfwit of the circus!"

He rushed forward with his spear but Richard stood his ground and knocked Ignatz to the ground with one swing of his strong arm. The guards and people of Mitzenpool cheered madlly and set upon the soldiers of Ketchikan who fled in dismay when they saw their king on the ground. Ignatz and his men were defated and never both ered Mitzenpool or any other kingdom again.

Then the people lifted Richard to their shoulders and carried him in to the king. The old man wept and embraced his son. "Now I can die in peace," he whispered. "For, in you, Mitzenpool will have a mighty king."

"Merry Christmas!" cried Santa as he sailed away.

Suddenly there was the crack of a whip and the sound of sleigh bells tinkling. The people rushed to the window.

"IT'S SANTA! Look! Look! It's Santa himself whom we've never seen before!"

Richard climbed on a table and peered over their shoulders.

Sure enough, there was Santa's sleigh in the courtyard below and there was Santa himeself emptying a giant bag of gifts for the people of Mitzenpoo.

When the sack was empty Santa cracked his whip again and the sleigh rose into the air.

"Merry Christmas!" cried Santa as he sailed away.

Woman, 106, Still Leads Happy Life

WEST LIBERTY, Ky. (AP)—Lots of relatives and friends will stop by today to wish Aunt Jeston Gevedon a happy birthday, a merry Christmas and another year of enjoying life.

Aunt Jeston is 106 years old today, and alively 106 at that.

Today she'll be setting out tobacco, enough to last her for the coming year of smoking her pipe.

Aunt Jeston smokes three or four times a day. She smokes up about a pound of tobacco a month —the crimp-cut kind. Been doing it for 90 years, and it's one of the reasons she says she's lived so long.

She says she feels fine. Her eyes are good and there's a twinkle in them. Her voice is clear and strong. And if you speak up some, Aunt Jeston's little bit of hearing trouble isn't any worry.

When people drop by today Aunt Jeston will be wearing her usual fresh, ruffled dust cap, and a dark red shawl she saves especially for company She'll have spent some time getting "prettied - up" for friends, but then she fusses over her appearance on ordinary days too.

But nothing really bothers her (another reason she credits for her long life). She said, "I never worry 'cause I've never done anyone wrong."

She didn't worry two years ago when everybody else thought Aunt Jeston was a goner after she broke her hip. She still likes to joke about surprising folks and "just deciding to stay around."

And she's "looking forward to seeing the folks and to staying around a while longer, the good Lord willing."

Newspaper Strike Halting 5 Publications

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Ray Brown, president of Mailers' Union Local 137 which is on strike against two Dayton newspapers, Sunday said, 'I don't anticipate any new developments until after Christmas."

The strike by 64 mailers has prevented publication of the afternoon Dayton Daily News and its sister paper, the morning Journal Herald, since Friday afternoon. Both papers are owned by Dayton Newspapers, Inc., and have a combined circulation of 249,000.

Robert Wolfe, executive vice president and general manager of the newspaper corporation, said wages, vacations and interchange of work between shifts of mailers are the principal issues in the dispute. But Brown contends wages are not involved.

Wolfe, also, reported no new negotiations.

Out-of-town newspapers were at a premium Sunday as news vendors reported their stocks were sold quickly. Some residents were reported to have driven to Springfield, 24, miles east of here, to buy Sunday papers.

Daytonians had some hope of a newspaper when the Oakwood-Kettering Times, a weekly suburban paper, indicated it may publish more than once a week if it appears the strike will last through Christmas.

Officials Hold Slight Hope For 28 Sailors

LONDON (AP) — Rescue officials held slight hope today for 28 crewmen missing from a Scottish freighter which went down during a mercy mission in a raging North Sea storm.

Royal Air Force planes despite bad weather resumed the search at dawn for survivors of the 1,991-ton Narva, which sank Sunday.

The Narva, en route to Sweden from Aberdeen, Scotland, with a cargo of pulp, ran into trouble about 120 miles southwest of Stavanger, Norway, while reportedly going to the English coastal vessel Boswell, in difficulty in the same area.

The 865-ton Boswell also sank, but its 14 crewmen were picked up by an English trawler about 150 miles east of Kirdkleness, Kincardineshire.

An official of Geln and Co., which owns the Narva, said there was a slim chance up to 20 of the crewmen could be on an inflatable life raft a plane reported sighting or that some of them were aboard a ship without radio communication.

The Norwegian passenger ferry Leda reported she sighted a distress light signals from the Nava but that the freighter disappeared in darkness about 4:40 a.m., before a lifeboat from the Leda could reach her.

The Leda's lifeboat located no survivors.

Jan. 10 will be the deadline for collecting the $200,0000, if the order is granted. If the money is secured, then the pottery will operate as a debt-free business with $97,000 working capital.

About 275 workers, many of them women, were affected by the shutdown early in July of the two plants located here. Lack of operating capital was the reason for the closing of the oldest industry in town. The company's Cannonsburg plant was closed in February.

In mid-August, limited production was resumed and operations are continuing. However, only orders which were on hand the first of July are being filled.

Atty. Jack H. Cohen was appointed receiver in equity by Judge Joel H. Sharp of the Common Pleas Court in Lisbon in August and was appointed federal receiver Nov. 19.

In Cleveland today awaiting the outcome of the request are Cohen; J. E. Bauknecht, attorney for the receiver; and Paul J. Steffens, the pottery company president.

a military standpoint that each government have the missiles. "It is necessary only that relatively few countries have them," he said. "The range of these missiles permit their distribution at any one of many, many places." The missiles reportedly would have a range of about 1,500 miles.

Norstad said the missiles and equipment will cost about 30 to 40 million dollars per squadron.

The first step in the missile bases program should be taken "in a matter of days, weeks, not months, and I'm sure it will be," Norstad said.

Norstad told correspondents at his headquarters in Paris today that NATO's decision to arm with missiles set the stage for location of these weapons in Europe well in time to meet the growing threat from Soviet scientific advances.

He said his staff, in its planning, had worked on the assumption "that the entire family of missiles would be in the Soviet arsenal." He expressed strong doubt this would be the case any time soon but added:

"It is normal we should give them full credit — we must and we have done that, perhaps too generously."

Norstad warned, however, that the introduction of missiles would not lessen his needs for conventional forces.

In the Holy Land, shopkeepers and hotel proprietors looked forward to a profitable Christmas season as visitors scared away last year by Middle East war rumblings flocked back.

With some 6,000 tourists expected, hotels already were booked solid, in Jerusalem, Jericho and other towns around Bethlehem.

The no man's land between Jordan and Israel was quieter than it has been in years. Jordan's King Hussein lifted the night curfew from the Arab side of the Holy Land for the Christmas festivities.

MEMPHIS MUTTNIK—Ready for take-off, "Fireflight," who may be the American answer to Russia's "muttnik," seems set for a trip to the moon or any place else in outer space. Fireflight, an Airedale, is being trained by Memphis citizens George King and Sonny Schmidt, in their private plane, in case Uncle Sam ever does decide to shoot a dog-satellite into space. Fireflight's outfit consists of tiny red football pants, a red jersey and a parachute harness, plus goglesand earphones.

Man Admits Passing Bad Checks in Cleveland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A 27-year-old man who said he had passed bad checks turned himself in to police Sunday so that his family could obtain food and shelter.

Det. John Haywood said the man identified himself as Christopher Francis McCarthy and reported he was wanted in Cleveland, Ohio, for passing checks that totaled about $5,000.

McCarthy was quoted as saying he came to Miami last July and opened a variety store with the proceeds of the checks, then went broke and lost the store in September. He couldn't get a job because he lacked references, he said.

Police officers chipped in $10 to buy food for the McCarthys' children, Deborah, 20 months and Ricky, four months.

Arrangements were started to obtain social service funds to send Mrs. McCarthy and the children to Cleveland to spend Christmas with relatives.

Miami police said Cleveland authorities did not indicate precisely when they would come for McCarthy.

Thief Little Too Late In Returning Auto

DETROIT (AP) — James M. Thullen was a little too late returning a borrowed car.

Police, working on a license number given them by a hitchhiker victim, traced a suspicious car to a Detroit waitress. Detective Sgt. William Matson said she told them she had loaned her car to Lullen.

Twenty minutes later he drove up in the car and was arrested in connection with a $300 gasoline station robbery earlier Sunday night.

Woman Becomes First U. S. Negro Stewardess

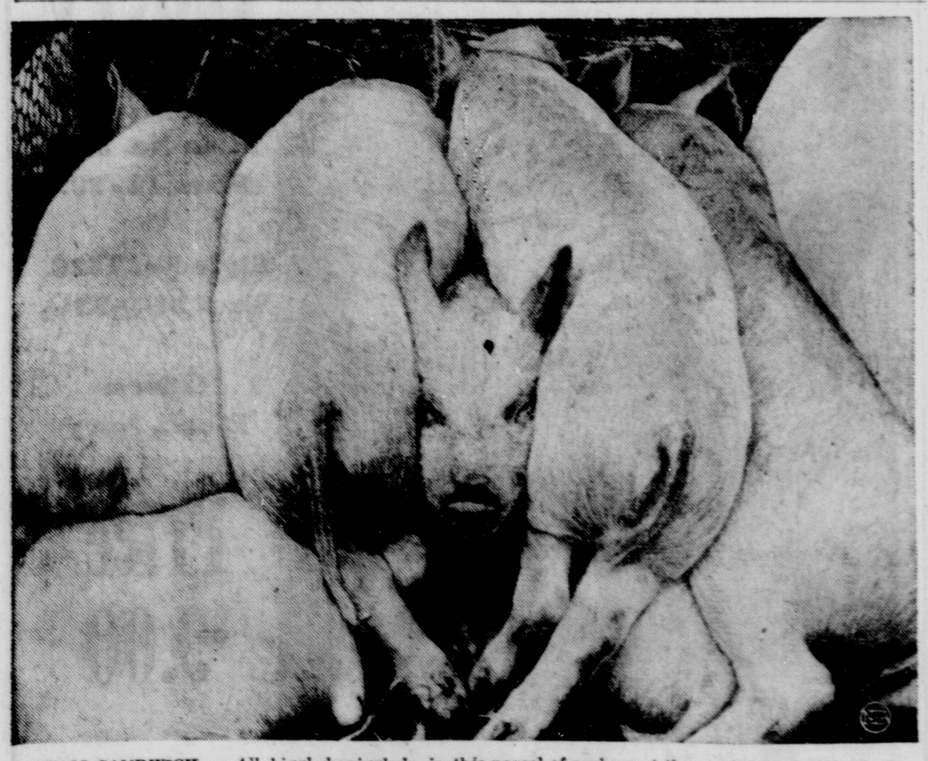

NEW YORK (AP) — Miss Ruth Taylor, 25-year-old registered nurse, has become the nation's first Negro airline stewardess.

Charles Abrams, chairman of the State Commission Against Discrimination, said Sunday Miss Taylor was hired by Mohawk Airlines, which operates only in Northern states. She will report for work Jan. 13.

Native of Boston, Miss Taylor was graduated from Trumansburg, N.Y., Central High School, and Bellevue School of Nursing here.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Back in 1910, our armed forces bought their first airplane under a guarantee that it would go 42 miles an hour. Some of the boys who signed the tract must still be around. And geared to that pace, too.

We don't know just who in the Air Force is responsible but — just a few hours ebfore the magicians at the Cape Canaveral missile testing center set off the Atlas ICBM — they almost provoked a strike by trying to save a few thotsand dollars. By the time the incident blew over, it cost the government thousands of dollars in long distance phone calls and considerable excitement and high blood pressure, not to mention unnecessary diversion from some mighty important work.

It all began when Sen. Lynden Johnson's Armed Services Committee received an agitated letter from a somewhat over-animated labor leader, Walter T. Coleman chairman of the Air Transport Committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. The letter stirred vision of American workers in concentration camps.

THE GUIDED MISSIVE to Johnson stated that American workers never will be "slaves." It demanded that the committee, now bringing some sunlight into the missile jungle, interrupt that probing to investigate the "crisis" at Cape Canaveral.

The labor leaders said the situation might lead to a stoppage at the testing site. There was a great todo. Everybody investigated, including this reporter.

The "crisis" turned out to be a dispute over who would pay for uniforms worn by some 500 members of Mr. Coleman's union, all of them clerks.

These clerks work for the Pan American World Airways, Inc., Guided Missile Range Division which operates the Cape Canaveral site. Pan American and the union have just signed a contract which has over 100 clauses. One of these says that Pan-Am would pay for all uniforms worn.

THIS CONTRACT had to be approved by the Air Force which hires Pan American to run the testing site. The Air Force has the right to veto the contract because the Air Force really pays the bills through Pan American.

When the bright blue yonder boys saw the clause guaranteeing that the workers would be reimbursed for the uniforms, the Air Force swooped down on the contract and machine-gunned the clause right out of lower space.

The union screamed. It demanded an investigation. Apparently everybody overlooked one minor detail.

The 500 clerks just don't wear uniforms. They are civilians. They love their white collars and frocks, depending on the sex of the "slave laborer." The reference to the uniforms was thrown in because there are a few guards employed by Pan-Am.

The whole matter would not have come to the cost of a spool of red tape. Yet, a strike was threatened.

In a few days Moscow Radio will report it as a "workers' revolt" against American "war-mongering." But that's the least. The case of the missing uniforms is indicative of the confusion which has been wrought by dedicated dollar watching.

It was this kind of swooping down on spending which also moved the Pentagon boys to cut down vital contracts. Thousands of telegrams were dispatched in past year or two to big companies, slashing not only all overtime but all production in aircraft plants from three per cent up to 20 per cent.

MANY OF THESE plants worked on the "skin," or cone, or the 3000,000 parts which go into each Inter-Continental Ballistic Missile. Result was that the work week dwindled to four days in some factories. Many small feeder shops were forced either to curtail production sharply or go out of business.

Typical is the New York area. The overtime cut-back there affected 18,000 of the 24,000 skilled workers who are members of the International Association of Machinists.

Some 54,000 members of this union throughout the country in the missile and allied fields were laid off completely, as this column has been pointing out for a year. This is in addition to those who lost jobs in the airplane field itself, but whose skills are needed for missile work. All this is what has angered Sen. Johnson.

After the Red Star, called Sputnik, hit the air, a full report on this chaos was handed President Eisenhower. Some weeks ago he told Sen. Syles Bridges that the missile field could be unsnarled by new orders for full work weeks and restoration of overtime work.

That is, if the Pentagon doesn't get in the President's way.

The Hall Syndicate

A LITTLE NIP, THEN FLIP — "Little Misses," a venturesome parakeet, dips her bill in a customer's beer at a pub in Lewes, England. The birdbrain, not knowing when to say "when," winds up flat on her back and feeling higher than a Sputnik.

Sociable Hermit

By HAL BOYLE

EVERGLADES CITY, Fla. (AP)—If you want solitude, take a tip from "the world's most sociable hermit"—don't buy an island.

"Most people say they'd like to have an island so they can be by themselves," said Roy Ozmer, 60, the hermit of Pelican Key. "But it doesn't work out that way.

"Last year I had more than 6,000 visitorsand thank God for every one of them. If I just sat out there twiddling my thumbs and listening to the birds, I'd be crazier than—well than I am."

Everybody should be so crazy as Ozmer, a lean utterly friendly man who wears a green beret and a trim graying van dyke beard. He is one of the few men who wearied of steady work, turned to hermiting—and made it pay.

His paradise is a three-acre island seven miles from here, a key on which 260 varieties of trees, shrubs and flowers flourish. He settled here in 1949 as a career hermit after working as a merchant seaman, apple farmer, and movie exhibitor.

"I just got tired of the rat race and wanted out of it," he explained. "I got tired of working one week just to make enough to live the next week."

Ozmer's simple needs are easily met. He is so charming that everybody in the area vies in trying to help him. He has three shacks on the island and rents them out to sportsmen. Neighboring fishermen drop by his refuge to give him part of their catch.

Tourists, anxious to see a real live hermit, come by the thousands to chat with him and share a hospitable coffee pot. Many insist on leaving a small money gift behind, although the old hermit never asks for anything. He doesn't have to.)

"This place is like 42nd Street and Broadway," he remarked. "Sooner or later everybody gets here. And, unless they are liars, at least 75 per cent leave envying me. Anyway, that's what they say."

Among his visitors have been Mickey Rooney, General Doolittle, Gypsy Rose Lee and John L. Lewis.

Roy's philosophy toward the world can be gleaned from a number of defiant signs he has posted about his island. Here are a few:

"I will mind your baby, crank your motor, or cash your check, but I will not go fishing."

"Ladies tolerated."

"To hell with the Joneses!"

"Now at last I have a pot to put a petunia in, and a window ledge to set it on."

The old hermit isn't all alone. He has two dogs, "Little Sister" and "Boojum," and three pet egrets — "Doctor Doolittle," "Grumpy," and "Dopey," who like to chase and eat butterflies.

Ozmer is healthier than he has ever been before in his life and says he is never lonely.

"In 1942 a doctor told me I would have to give up coffee and cigarettes or die of a heart attack," he said. "But what was really killing me was lying awake nights worrying how to pay the rent.

"I smoke two packs of cigarettes and drink 20 to 25 cups of coffee a day now, and my heart is fine.

"I am busy from dawn to dusk. There's always something to do on an island, and keeping busy is very important. I think it takes a man about 60 years to find out the beauty of having something to do—the real joy of working.

"But now I don't have to punch a time clock and nobody counts my coffee breaks. I work when I want to, loaf when I want to.

"As long as you are doing what you like, you can't be bored."

As I left I noticed a huge bleached skull lying just off the pathway. It looked like the skull of a loggerhead turtle but Ozmer just grinned and said:

"That's all that's left of the last income tax collector who came here."

JIMMY'S DREAM HAS WINGS

—but will his dream come true?

Jimmy's theme song goes, "Off We Go into the Wild Blue Yonder." Quite appropriate for an aspiring jet pilot.

But Jimmy lives in a community where there's a serious shortage of classrooms, teachers and good schoolbooks. Result? Not enough schooling for a future jet pilot.

Let's see that this doesn't happen in our schools. You can help by supporting our School Board, by attending PTA meetings and school conferences.

THOSE CRITICS who say the Post Office or the railroads don't do anything to speed up that important letter will be glad to hear about the Railvan. This is a newly developed rail-highway vehicle that recently set a mail-carrying land record between Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich. The post-office-to-post-office time of 3 hours, 18 minutes compares favorably with the normal freight schedule of four hours (yard to yard). Three manual handlings of mail are eliminated. The Railvan looks like an ordinary highway semi-trailer with an extra set of iron wheels. A compressed air motor seesaws the two sets of wheels, one rubber-tired and other flanged for rails. The units are hauled in groups by train and singly by truck tractor. Further tests will be conducted on the new mail carrier.

With 247 large sacks of mail, it is hauled by conventional truck tractor.

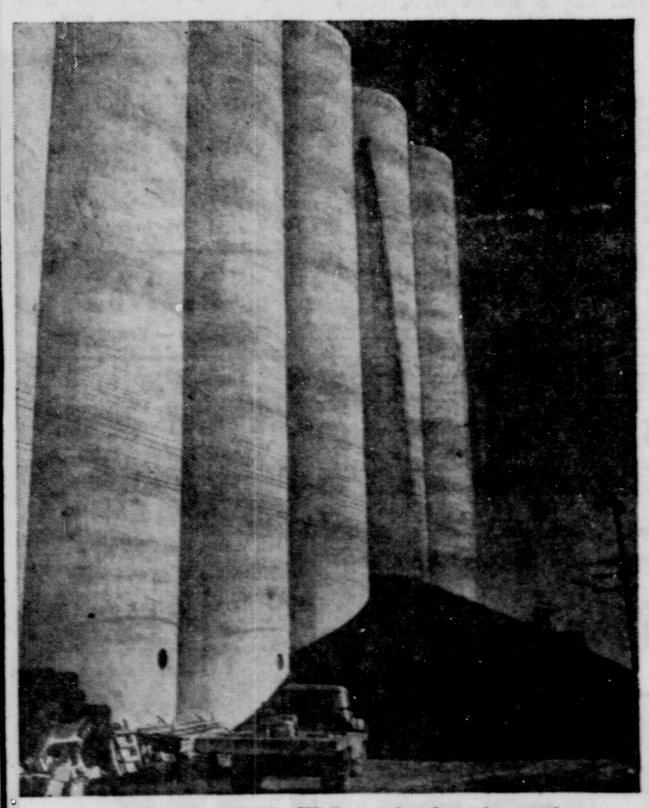

A transfer vehicle switches Railvan from road to tracks. Locomotive will haul it.

FOR NIGHT SCHOOL—Apache, a year-old Dalmatian, didn't seem to see well enough to obey commands in night school, so his owner got a Chicago optical firm to make up a special pair of glasses.

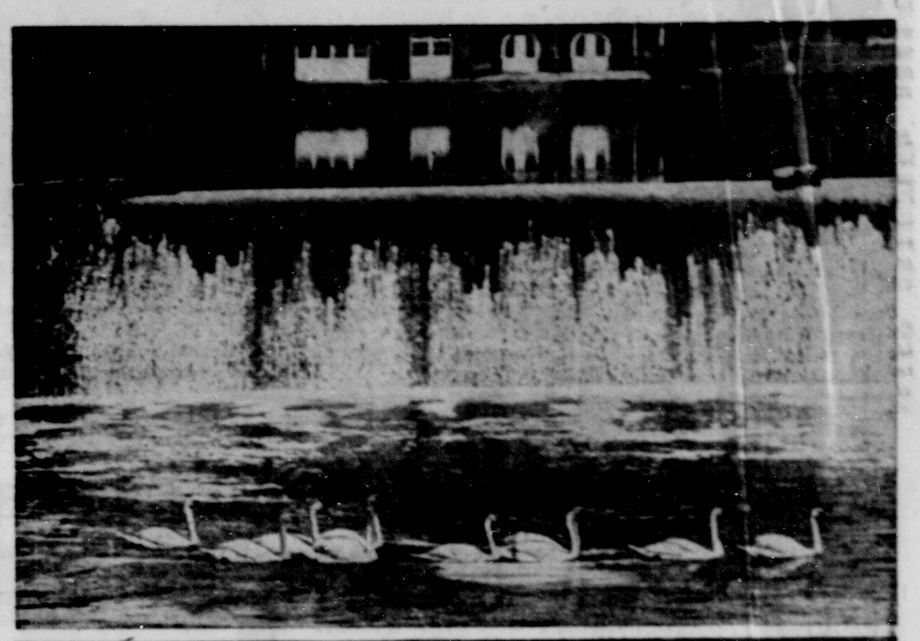

HAND-AND-FOOT BAG—Husbands will shudder when they see this four-foot deep, three-foot wide leather handbag at British fair in Blackpool, England. Think of the things girls could cram into it.

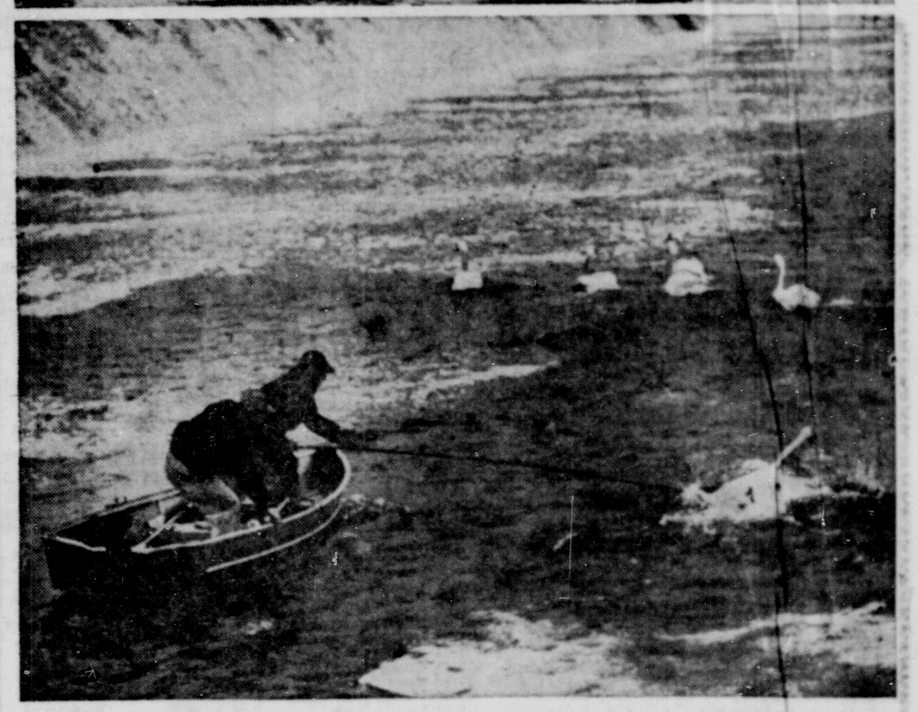

TOO WET TO STORE—With trucks dumping maize into an already full grain elevator at Liberal, Kan., the grain is being dumped out the other side from a hole high up on one of the concrete tubes. Grain had to be run through a dryer because it is too wet.

SWANS DOWN—BROUGHT UP—When swans were swept over Fairmont dam and unable to return to upstream pen, guards had to use rodeo tactics to round them up in Philadelphia. Top photo shows swans gliding across the Schuykill river, then (center) guards closed in on them, and (bottom) they were roped.

NATURE'S CHRISTMAS CARD—With an assist from screen actresses Mara Corday and Martha Hyer, the photographer catches a scene that might make a good one for an old-fashioned Christmas card. The area is near Sun Valley, Id.

Christmas Tree Decorators Should Observe Safety Rules

No sane man would lug a drumful of gasoline into his front room to serve as the focal point of a week-long celebration. But many of us do something nearly as dangerous each year; we put up a Christmas tree.

Your beautiful tree, its wood and foliage loaded with pitch and resin, is one of the most combustible objects you can bring into a home. Care in its handling and decoration should keynote safety measures that are mandatory for all of your holiday decorating activities.

So cautions the National Safety Council and the National Fire Protection Assn., whose safety engineers each year must read reports of flame-filled horror during what should be the happiest of holiday seasons.

✣

TO PROTECT your family, here are some things that you can do:

Buy from a dealer you know, who'll give you fresh stock. In many areas there's not much you can do about tree frtshness; trees are cut ahead of time, and shipped in.

Buy a small tree, the smaller the better. Until you're ready to set it up, keep tree in a cold place, such as in an unheated garage. Be sure that it's kept standing in water.

Saw off an inch or two of trunk above original cut, before placing tree in stand. The fresh cut removes the sap-sealed trunk end and permits the tree to draw water from reservoir in stand.

Never use a stand that doesn't have a water reservoir.

Some handy men report that addition of one of the water-soluble plant foods to water in reservoir helps to preserve tree's freshness.

CHECK LIGHT strings, now, for worn, cracked or brittle insulation, cracked sockets.

Some cord sets are equipped with fuses; so much the better. If yours are less elaborate strings be sure that the house circuit carrying your strings is fused with no more than a 15-ampere fuse.

Be absolutely certain to turn the tree lights off at bedtime, or if you're away from home.

NEVER LEAVE small children unattended in the room where the Christmas tree is displayed. A resin-fed fire can go out of control in seconds and youngsters will most certainly become confused in seeking an exit.

Just as soon as needles turn brown, become brittle or start to shed, take that tree down.

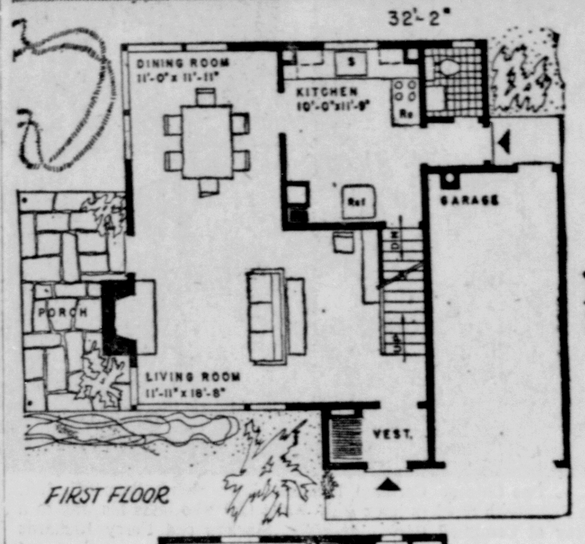

Never smoke near the tree.

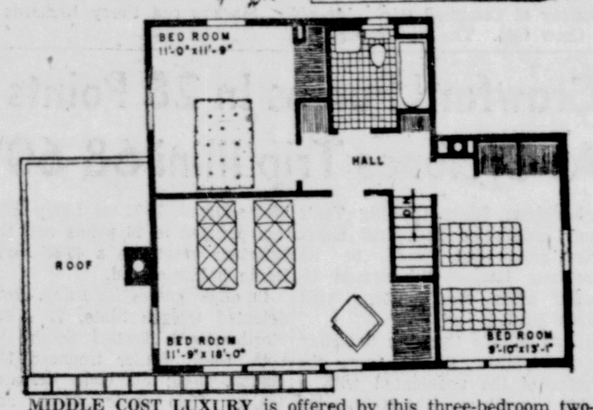

Water-type extinguishers, buckets of water or a hose that's connected to a water source should be near at hand. However, don't be a hero. Get everyone out of the house and call the fire department before you tackle a fire.

YOUR BEST BET in handling the tree situation is, of course, to set a tree up outside the house, and use either a very small live tree or an artifical one indoors.

Today's decorative lighti n g equipment offers so many possibilities that there need be no lack of glowing hospitality in the home if you dispense with a large, combustible indoor decoration.

MIDDLE COST LUXURY is offered by this three-bedroom two-story house. It includes an el-shaped dining and living room, large windows, liberal overhangs on both floors and an open porch. Each of the three bedrooms has cross ventilation. It is Plan PL26AP, by Architect Samuel Paul, 89-51 164th St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Adjustable Oven Cabinet Is Convenient

The result of the terrific upsurge of interest in the "built-in" kitchen, the steel cabinet will house almost any brand of built-in oven, despite the variances in dimensions. This is made possible by horizontal and vertical adapter plates that adjust to accommodate the width and height of the oven selected.

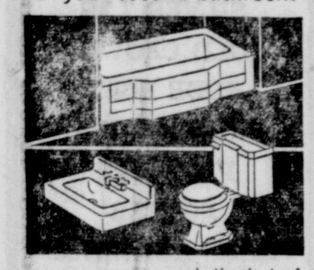

Several advantages are cited for this cabinet. One is that it is completely factory-finished, ready for use as it comes from the carton. The oven is placed in the cabinet, rather than having to build around the oven.

Another advantage is that should the homemaker wish to change ovens in the future, there is no need to tear out the surrounding cabinetry. The new oven is merely inserted in the steel cabinet.

Still another advantage is that heat generated by the oven will not affect the steel cabinet in any manner, causing warpage and drying. Further, the cabinet provides a fireproof enclosure.

Lions Register 31-27 Victory Over 49ers

Tittle Tosses 3 TD Passes

Tom Tracy Scores On 59-Yard Run

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Can Detroit's Lions beat the Cleveland Browns in Sunday's National Football League championship game?

"Sure, why not," said Lion quarterback Tobin Rote. He had just engineered a 31-27 comeback victory for his club over the San Francisco 49ers Sunday in their playoff for the Western Conference title.

"The Browns are always rough," said Detroit Coach George Wilson with more caution. Then he added, "We beat them on Dec. 8 (20-7) and we're hoping to do it again." They'll meet in Detroit.

The 49ers built up a 27-7 lead against the Lions with 2 minutes and 22 seconds gone in the third quarter only to falter and fail.

San Francisco quarterback Y.A. Tittle pitched touchdown passes of 34 yards to R. C. Owens. 47 to Hugh McElhenny and 12 to Billy Wilson. Gordy Soltau added three conversions and two field goals, of 25 and 10 yards.

Then the Lions roared back. Tittle fumbled and Bob Long recovered at the San Francisco 27. With fourth down at the 20, Rote passed complete to Hopalong Cassady at the 6. Two plays later Tom Tracy boomed over from the 1.

Less than two minutes later, racy, a 210-pound reserve fullback playing for the injured John Henry Johnson, raced 59 yards to score. Jim Martin's conversion made it 27-21.

On the last play of the third period, Rote hit end Steve Junker for a 37-yard gain to the 15. Tracy crashed for 10, Rote for 3 and Gene Gedman scored, Martin converted and Detroit led for the first time 28-27.

Later Martin added a 13-yard field goal.

So Detroit gets another crack Sunday at a traditional foe and the NFL title it held last in 1953.

Hawks Post 146-136 Win Over Nationals

By The Associated Press

A super-speed adding machine seems the proper gift this Christmas for National Basketball Assn. teams.

There were six games this weekend, two Saturday and four Sunday, with a total of 1,430 points being scored over-all. Tops on the list was the St. Louis Hawks' record-breaking 146-136 victory over Syracuse Saturday night. This broke the Boston Celts record of 142 points in one game.

Sunday, the Hawks grabbed a 123 - 115 win over Minneapolis. Other games found the New York Knicks beating the Philly Warriors, 126-100, the Boston Celtics winning over the Cincinnati Royals 115-98 and the Syracuse Nats whipping Detroit 119-93.

St. Louis, which has won eight in a row, received spot help from Win Wilfong and Cliff Hagan Sunday to break an 86-86 tie in the fourth quarter and wrap up the victory over the Lakers.

Hagan led both teams with 31 points, while Wilfong had 24. Bob Pettit, who scored 51 Saturday, notched 27. Larry Foust of Minneapolis had 30.

The Celtics spotted the Royals an 11 point lead early in the game but pulled away with a 33-point third quarter. Bill Sharman topped the Eastern Division leaders with 24 points, while Jack Twyman and Clyde Lovellette each scored 26 points for the losers.

Syracuse got some fine defensive work from Ed Conlin, who held Detroit scoring ace George Yardley to seven points in the first half. During this time Johnny Kerr hit 22 of his 26 points as the Nats built up a 56-39 halftime advantage.

West Virginia Scores 75-64 Triumph Over North Carolina

By The Associated Press

While West Virginia, the giant killer of the year basks in its glory, a dozen important holiday basketball tournaments get under way after Christmas.

In one—the Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C.—North Carolina will try to pick up the pieces after seeing its 37-game win streak shattered by West Virginia 75-64 in the final of the Kentucky Invitional Tournament Saturday.

This was perhaps the biggest victory for Mountaineer Coach Fred Schaus since he took over at West Virginia little more than three seasons ago.

His next aim is to carry the Southern Conference banner past the first round of the NCAA Championships, something he has failed to do three times. The Mountaineers have won 26 straight league games and their steady beatings in the first round of the NCAA tournament have been a sore spot with Schaus.

Another tournament which could wind up maaching two of the goliaths of the country is the Big Eight, which also starts Thursday at Kansas City. Kansas and Kansas State are the favorites to go through to the final.

Kansas lays Oklahoma and Kansas States goes against Missouri in the first round.

Here are the 2 major tournament and the teams involved:

Opening Thursday:

Holiday Festival at New York—Dayton vs. Manhattan, Temple vs. Pitt, Seattle vs. Connecticut, California vs. NYU.

All College Tournament at Oklahoma City—San Francisco vs. Denver, Western Kentucky vs. Niagara, Oklahoma City vs. Tulane. Idaho State vs. Tulsa.

Dixie Classic at Raleigh, N. C.—Wake Forest vs. Duquesne, North Carolina State vs. Northwestern, Duke vs. Seton Hall, North Carolina vs. St. Louis.

Big Eight Tournament at Kansas City—Kansas vs. Oklahoma, Colorado vs. Iowa State, Kansas State vs. Missouri, Nebraska vs Princeton.

Southwest Conference Tournament at Houston—Southern Methodist vs. Texas Tech, exas Christian vs. exas A&M, Arkansas vs. Texas, Rice v. Baylor.

Louisiana Invitational at Shreveport—Centenary vs. The Citadel, Tennessee Tech vs. Mississippi Southern, West Texas vs. Northwestern Louiiana, Hardin - Simmons vs. Louisiana Tech.

Opening Friday:

Motor City Classic at Detroit — Georgia Tech vs. Marquette, Columbia vs. Detroit.

Richmond Invitational — Richmond vs. Penn, Virginia vs. La Salle.

Holy Cross Invitational—Dartmouth vs. Colgate, Holy Cross vs. Brown.

Opening Saturday:

Queen City Tournament at Buffalo—Iowa, Cornell, Syracuse, Canisius.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans—Maryland vs. Vanderbilt, Memphis State vs. Loyola of New Orleans.

Alabama turned back Louisiana Tech 63-42 in the final of the Carrousel Tournament at Charlotte over the weekend.

San Francisco won the Blue Grass Tournament at Louisville, defeating Louisville 62-55.

Hillsdale Given 27-26 Defeat By Pittsburgh

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Quarterback Doug Maison had the crowd of 7,500 cheering him wildly as he tried unsuccessfully to pass his Hillsdale College team to victory over Pittsburgh State College in the Holiday Bowl football contest.

They probably would have cheered twice as hard if they knew the handicap under which he was playing. He sprained his ankle in practice and reinjured it in the first half.

Maison, a 200 - pound senior, passed for three touchdowns and scored his team's fourth in the 27-26 loss to Pittsburgh Saturday.

After the Kansas club took a 20-0 lead in the first 10 minutes, Hillsdale a Michigan college tied it 20-200 early in the third period. But Pittsburgh pulled ahead 27-20 and held that lead till the final moments.

It broke Hillsdale's winning streak at 34 and gave Pittsburgh the championship of the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics

Maison, who played the entire game except for two plays, was named the most valuable player in the contest to go with his selection on the NAIA All America team.

Crawford Pumps In 28 Points As Cyclones Trip Illini 68-60

Michigan State, the Big Ten's only undefeated basketball team, run into what could be its toughest test of the season tonight when the Spartans visit Iowa State.

Iowa State's Cyclones Saturday night toppled Illinois from the ranks of the undefeated with a 68-60 triumph over the fast-moving Illini with a shifting zone defense and some sharp-shooting by John Crawford.

Crawford scored 28 points while the Cyclones limited Illinois, a five-game winner, to its lowest scoring total of the season.

Michigan State, meanwhile, made it four straight by whipping Notre Dame, 79-72, as Larry Hedden pumped in 26 points and the Spartans overcame a 43-35 Notre Dame halftime lead.

In other games Saturday, Iowa defeated Oregon State, 77 - 67; Northwestern downed South Dakota, 64-46; Butler trounced Michigan, 85-65; St. Louis defeated winless Ohio State, 88-77, and Minnesota lost to Kentucky, 78-58, in the Kentucky Invitational ournament.

Aside from the Michigan State-Iowa State game tonight, Oregon State will be at Indiana, and Ohio State goes to Oklahoma.

Ohio State, which was expected to be one of the contenders for the Big Ten title, remains the only team without a victory. The Buckeyes have lost all four of their games to date and that string could easily reach seven by the end of the week.

Ohio State goes to California after its Oklahoma date to engage Southern Cal Friday and UCLA Saturday.

Big Ten teams are off Tuesday and Wednesday. Northwestern plays N. C. State in the opening round of the Dixie Classic Thursday and Indiana and Purdue will be engaged in the Hoosier Classic beginning Friday.

Michigan State also goes to the West Coast for the weekend meeting UCLA Friday and Southern Cal Saturday while Michigan and Wisconsin meet Wyoming and New Mexico at Albuquerque alternating opponents on Friday and Saturday.

Burdette Wisconsin's Outstanding Athlete

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Yankee-master Lew Burdette, pitching star of the Milwaukee Braves World Series conquest, has been hailed as Wisconsin's outstanding athlete of 1957.

The latest tribute to his mound fete came when he was named on 18 of 43 ballots cast in the second annual Associated Press poll of member newspaper, radio and television stations in Wisconsin

The 31-year-old native of Nitro, W. Va., became the first pitcher in 37 years to start and win three series games as the Braves wrested the world championship from the New York Yankees in seven games last October.

Zuppke, Ex-Coaching Great, Dies

One of Most Inventive Football Tutors In History

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Bob Zuppke of Illinois, one of the most inventive coaches in American football history, is dead.

Affectionately known as "Little Dutchman," Zuppke died Sunday at the age of 78 in Cole Memorial Hospital. Cause of death was prostatic cancer, 'complicated by high blood pressure and a long-standing heart ailment. He suffered a serious stroke in 1955.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday.

Zuppke, who retired in 1941 after 29 years as Illinois' football coach, was given little hope during the past week when his health began failing rapidly.

Zuppke was known as the master of the upset. He produced seven Big Ten titles for Illinois and his teams won 131 games, lost 80 and tied 12.

One of his first big upsets was a 14-9 triumph over a great Minnesota team in 1916. In 1924, he surprised Michigan 39-14. Red Grange, Zuppke's most famous pupil, scored five touchdown, four in the firt quarter, in that game. Probably the last to be remembered wa the 13-9 victory over Michigan in 1939 when the Wolverine were riding high with Tom Harmon and Foret Evahevki.

Fritz Criler, Michigan' athletic director who coached the 1939 Wolverines, said Zuppke was "the coach I most dreaded to meet on the playing field. He was inventive and resourceful and you never knew what he was going to do."

Other coaches throughout the country joined in calling him one of the great college coaches of all time.

After his retirement, Zuppke turned to farming and his hobby of painting. For a while he served as an advisory coach to the Chicago Bears but had to give it up because of ill health. His time in the final years was spent between his apartment in Champaign and his summer home in Muskegon, Mich., where his coaching career began on the high scool level in 1905.

He went to te University of Wisconsin where he won a freshman numeral in football but he never did succeed in winning a varsity letter.

Thirty-two years after his graduation he returned to Wisconsin and was awarded his "W" at a bqnquet observing his 25 years as coach at Illinois.

Sharp-tongued and quick of wit, his sayings through the years became known as Zuppkeisms. Some of his observations included:

'Good losers. I don't like 'em. Show me a team of singers about a defeat and I'll show you a team of punks. I want bad losers.

"If you are too old to play, you try to coach.

"Often an All-American is made by a long run, a weak defense and a poet in the press box.

"Football is a great kicking game. However, the kickers are in the stands at $3.60 a seat.

Zuppke in 1956 married Leona P. Ray, who had been his housekeeper for 23 years. His first wife, Fanny Tillotson Erwin, died in 1936 at the age of 63. They were married in 1908 in Muskegon, and had no children.

Ohio State 19-Point Favorites To Drop Pacific Coast Champs

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Ohio State's Big Ten champions, 19-point favorites to defeat Oregon in the Rose Bowl game New Years Day, are working as if they were 19-point underdogs.

A pair of two-hour practice sessions were on tap today for coach Woody Hayes' stalwarts and the same menu for Tuesday. The 44-man squad thought Sunday was to be a day of fun and frolic but the players were sent through an hour's drill after a trip to Disneyland and Marineland.

Hayes threw away the usual script upon arrival here Saturday. He had the squad on the practice field as soon as it could be whisked from the Burbank airport to East Los Angeles Junior College, with no hotel stop in between.

Both teams were dinner guests of a Los Angeles night club (Moulin Rouge, owned by Frank Sennes, formerly of Warren, Ohio) Saturday night. Both will visit movie studios later in the week.

The rest of the time will be spent polishing plays and defenses. The Webfoots had a picture taking session for news photographers Sunday and Casanova held the squad for an hour's workout after that.

Hayes, who ran into some caustic treatment at the hands of the West Coast press four years ago because of his outspoken tendencies, was friendliness personified in his first meetings with the writers. In fact, one coast columnist said a perfect Christmas gift for the Ohio mentor would be a record of Elvis Presley singing "Stay as Sweet as You Are."

Along with his intense practices, Hayes was taking no chances on running afoul of West Coast officiating. He hired two California whistle tooters, Jay Settle and Jim Tunney Jr., to keep an eagle eye on everyone in the workouts to detect anything which might be okay in the Big Ten but an infraction out here.

Hayes has set a 10 p. m. curfew for his players and said he would decide today whether future practices would be closed to the public and press. Casanova said all Webfoot workouts would be wide open.

Although Ohio has eight of its allotted 16 practice days left and Oregon nine, the rival coaches said they would not use them all since they plan no workouts Christmas day or next Sunday when the wives of the players arrive.

Of the two 44-man squads, 15 on each are married. The Webfoot husbands have 10 children with co-captain and guard Harry Mondale being the father of three and tackles Darrel Aschbacher and Tom Keele two each. The Buckeye husbands have a total of five children.

Rangers Beat Canadiens 4-2

Black Hawks Bow Twice to Red Wings

By The Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens' threat to make a runaway of the National Hockey League pennant race has fizzled, at least temporarily, all because the New York Rangers are on another red-hot streak.

The Rangers defeated the Canadiens 4-2 Saturday and then turned back Toronto 5-2 Sunday to run their unbeaten string to six games. The New Yorkers now are four points back of Montreal. The Canadiens defeated Boston 4-1 Sunday for an even-break in their weekend games.

The Bruins tied Toronto 3-3 while Detroit whipped the cellar-dwelling Chicago Black Hawks twice in a home-and-home series. The Red Wings won 5-3 Saturday in Chicago and 2-0 on their own ice Sunday night.

Dave Creighton produced two goals in the Rangers triumph over the Maple Leafs as they moved nine points away from the third-place Bruins.

With Alex Delvecchio and Norm Ullman provind the goals 73 seconds apart late in the middle period, goalie Terry Sawchuk posted his first home ice shutout since rejoining the Red Wings.

Steelers Hand 27-2 Whipping to Cards

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's pro football season ended Sunday just the way it started — in defeat.

The Cardinals suffered a 27-2 whipping from the Pittsburgh Steelers in a Comiskey Park game.

Two former Michigan State Spartans quartemback Earl Morrall and halfback Billy Wells — engineered the Steelers to the victory and a 6-6 seasonal finish good for third place in the final Eastern Division standings. Morrall completed 13 passes for 161 yards and one touchdown. Wells galloped 91 yards in 20 carries.

After winning the season opener at San Francisco, 20-10, the Cards lost to Washington at home, 37-14. They lost eight more times, won only two others, and finished in last place in the Eastern Division.

The Bears didn't do much better. The defending Western Division titlists lost their first three games and never recovered. The Bears' record was 5-7—fifth place.

Johnson, Sharrer Tie For Tourney Honors

LEXINGTON, Ky., (AP)— Minnesota's Ron Johnson and Lloyd Sharrer of West Virginia received an equal number of votes for most valuable player in last weekend's Kentucky Invitational Tournament.

Sharrer and Johnson each received 17 votes from sports writers and broadcasters.

The other was Jerry West of champion West Virginia. Sharrer was also named, along with Pete Brennan of North Carolina and Vernon Hatton of Kentucky.

Johnson scored 56 points in two games — one more than Kentucky's Cliff Hagan scored in Kentucky's first invitational five years ago — for a tourney record.

Brown Expects Lions to 'Roar' In Title Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown expects to meet a charged up Detroit Lions squad when he sends his Cleveland Browns into next Sunday's championship battle at Detroit's Briggs Stadium.

The Lions were mauled by San Francisco's 49ers in the first half of Sunday's playoff game at San Francisco. Behind 27-7 in the third quarter, Detroit suddenly came alive and scored three touchdowns and a field goal to win the Western Division title, 31-27, and a chance at the Browns.

"The Lions probably will keep that momentum and will come into next Sunday's game really roaring," Brown predicted. Cleveland, winners of the Eastern Division title, were idle last week pending the outcome of the Western Division race.

Brown, who watched the game on television, admitted he had counted the Lions out of the championship — until their third-period revival.

"It shouldn't have surprised me. They have a steady, well-seasoned team. . As we've found in previous games this year, they aren't a team to give up.'

Detroit defeated the Browns in a regular season contest, 20-7, after splitting two exhibition games this year. Next Sunday's game will be the fourth time the two teams have met for the National Football League championship since the Browns joined the circuit in 1950.

3 IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORY of our beloved Mother, Maude Smith and daughter Patty Selway, who died one year ago Dec. 27nd.

A light is from our household gone, a voice we loved is stilled, a place is vacant in our hearts which never can be filled. Some may think you are forgotten, though on earth, you are no more.

In our memory you are with us, as you always were before.

Sadly missed by

Theater In Leetonia To Reopen Wednesday

The former Manos Theater in Leetonia will reopen under new management Christmas Day at 2:30 p.m.

The theater will be operated by Frank Dominic, a service station dealer in Leetonia for the past 15 years. It will be known as the Gem Theater.

Dominic says he has installed a wide screen and new cinemascope equipment. The sound system, heating plant and other equipment has been inspected and placed in good working order, and the theater has been repainted.

The theater, the only one in Leetonia, has been closed for about a year and a half.

COLUMBIANA

'Messiah' Oratorio Presented Before Capacity Crowd of 1,000

COLUMBIANA — Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," was sung in Columbiana Methodist Church Sunday afternoon by the 60-voice chorus of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co.'s male choral group and the Youngstown Monday Musical Club before an audience that filed the seating capacity enlarged to accommodate 1,000.

The soloists were Phoebe Woodward, soprano; Dorothy Wigshall Green, contralto; and Herbert Pridham, tenor.

W. Vernon Hamilton, director, scheduled for the bass parts, had to omit them because he is just recovering from minor throat surgery. Lillian Butcher Stambaugh was piano accompanist.

The program lasted nearly an hour and a half. A voluntary offering went to the chorus for its supplies of music.

The organ and piano offertory was by Mrs. E. T. Coyle, church organist and Miss Polly Way. Rev. W. S. Longsworth, pastor, offered the invocation and gave the benediction.

LINDA ECKHARDT, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eckhardt of 219 N. Pearl St., who has been in Rainbow Children's Hospital in Cleveland six months, a victim of polio, will spend Christmas at home, but will be returned to the hospital Thursday.

Harry Eberhardt, who arranged the visit, will bring the girl from Cleveland Tuesday with a borrowed ambulance, and will return her to the hospital. She is in a cast from her neck to her knees.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Patenaude of Indianapolis were here over the weekend for a family gathering at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Groner, 17 W. Salem St., in observance of Mr. and Mrs. Groner's 25th wedding anniversary.

Their other two daughters and husbands, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Schmidt of North Lima and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglas of Columbiana, and three grandchildren were also present. Mr. Groner and the former Marguerite Young of East Palestine were married Dec. 22, 1932.

Because of Christmas being so near, which will keep many members away, the Kiwanis Club will have no special program for its meeting at Heck's at 6:30 p.m. today.

Next Monday evening, John Valuska of Mingo Junction, lieutenant governor-elect of the 19th division, will install the new officers for 1958.

Columbiana stores will be open today until 9 p.m., but will close Tuesday at 5:30 p.m.

BUURNS PROVE FATAL

CINCINATI (AP)—Burns suffered last Nov. 28 when she stumbled and fell into a trash fire caused the death at General Hospital Sunday of Laura Rae Tolson, 7.

THROUGH MIST, FOG, RAIN OR SNOW — A plane comes in for a landing at Hopkins Airport in Cleveland, during a demonstration of the newly installed Electronic Flash Approach System. The system (EFAS) is to be used chiefly during periods of mist, fog, snow or rain to guide pilots to the runway. Employing brilliant blue-white lights, it has 20 flashing lights at 100-foot intervals from 3,000 to within 1,000 feet of the center of the runway. The flashing lights reach a peak of 30 million candlepower. It is only the eighth such network operating, or in process of installation, at commercial and military fields in the United States and abroad.

'Santa Claus' Reported On Missing Person Form

NEW YORK (AP)—A thief broke into a display window of Flowerized Presentation, Inc., in the Bronx Sunday and made off with a 70-pound electrically operated model Santa Claus valued at $200.

The bandit ignored money in a safe and the petty cash box.

Detective Charles Morgan made out his report on a missing person form referring to a short, plump old man "last seen wearing white-trimmed red suit, black belt and black boots.

Police Find Girl, 6, In Vacant Apartment

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Police searched all Saturday night and into Sunday for 6-year old Bonnie Joy Campbell and she was in the vacant apartment right across the hall all the time.

The door of the vacant flat was unlocked when Bonnie Joy took refuge there late Saturday afternoon. She snapped the latch. Her father had spanked her once earlier in the day for leaving her designated play spot in the back yard. He had come home from an errand and found her out of bounds again.

"I was afraid of getting spanked," she said.

Teen-Agers Successfully Fire Rocket

OGDEN, Utah (AP)—A trio of secretive teen-agers has an announcement for the world. Their weekend firing of a rocket was "successful."

No motion picture news cameras ground, no government officials observed, no bulletins on countdown proceedings were issued.

Johnny Stoddard, Steve Mercer and Bruce Herrick, 17-year-old science students at Weber High School, hid behind sandbags, hooked wires to a battery, pushed a button and watched as their "success" sped upward trailing smoke.

The two-inch heavy steel rocket, 69 inches long, roared through the clouds over northern Utah. It hurtled back to earth—as planned—near the "secret" launching site. It was recovered "very badly mangled."

The boys, using trigonometry, calculated their rocket had gone up 3,600 feet at a speed of 338 m.p.h. It took 15 pounds of solid chemical fuel to do the job and the material burned about a second.

Then the youths forgot security momentarily to "leak" word of their accomplishment to the press.

Absolute secrecy was necessary they said, lest other "unexperienced" rocketeers injure themselves trying the same thing.

Noell Marble, Weber High chemistry instructor, and E. Rich Green, physics teacher, monitored the project "with very little direct supervision."

Another firing is scheduled before the year is out and future rockets will be of two-stage design using different fuels and carrying instruments.

Fire Destroys Mail In Railway Postal Car

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A fire Sunday in a mail-loaded railway car will leave some vacant spaces under Christmas trees here.

The fire was discovered as workers began to unload a car that had arrived from Pittsburgh. Some 700 bags of bulk mail were in the car. About 100 sacks—some ohlding Christmas packages — were burned and many others damaged by water.

C. M. Cain, district transportation manager for the post office, said postal inspectors were inspecting all the damaged mail and everything identifiable would be delivered.

Calico is named for the city of Calcutta, India.

Berlin Center

Mrs. Don Killi was hostess to the Jolly TV Club Thursday evening.

Mrs. Frank Young Jr., Mrs. John Lee Hawkins and Mrs. Dick Hilles were hostesses at a stork shower given Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Bill Langhan and Mrs. Ted Carter.

The Christmas dance will be held at the school tonight. Tony Cebiras and orchestra will furnish music for dancing from 9 to 12 p.m.

Mrs. Fred Althouse entertained the Skip a Week Card club Thursday with a luncheon.

Head Predicts Efforts To Enact New Bond Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — W. B. Bliss, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Assn., Sunday predicted renewed efforts in the next legislature to enact laws making it easier to pass school bond issues.

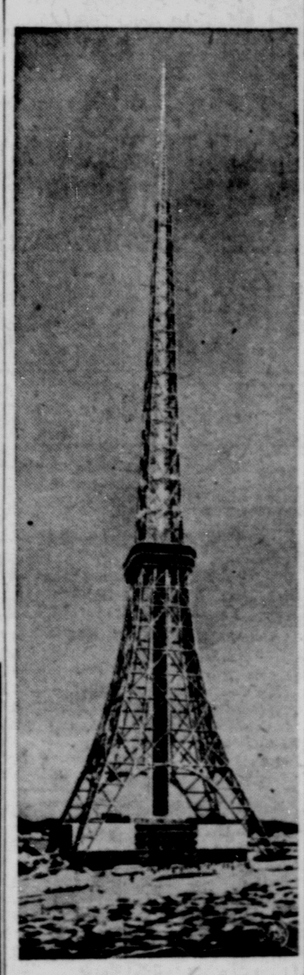

He said school bond issues in Ohio this year were given their worst support in a decade.

Bond issue passage now requires a 55 per cent majority vote at regular elections, and a 60 per cent majority at special elections.

Bliss said the number of bond issues approved this year dropped 15.8 per cent below last year's figure and was considerably lower than in any year since 1947.

TURNED TO GOOD PURPOSE!

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Valley Presbyterian church at nearby Bainbridge held worship services Sunday for the first time in a new home. The edifice, originally a cattle barn, has been a dance hall and a plush gambling rendezvous in its time.

TRANSPLANTED? — Strongly resembling the Eiffel Tower, this new TV station in Tokyo, Japan, shown here in artist's sketch, will be the second largest structure in the world when it is completed in December, 1958. It will rise 1,082 feet, almost 100 feet taller than the Paris landmark and second only to New York's Empire State Building, 1,472 feet high.

19-Year-Old Girl Loses Race With Death

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Patricia Ann Kable, 19, lost a race with death, and all because she wanted to be home for Christmas.

Patricia, a polio victim, left her iron lung in Cincinnati's General Hospital three weeks ago to return to her farm home at nearby Fayetteville, 35 miles away. Doctors had said it would be safe for her to stay for the holidays.

Early Sunday she had trouble breathing. Her father, Durward Kable, began driving her back to the hospital.

She was 12 miles away from the life-sustaining iron lung when death came.

SEARCH FOR BURGLARS

SANDUSK, Ohio (AP)—Sandusky detectives were searching today for burglars who broke into the Bargain Fair store and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash and merchandise. A policeman said $5,000 in cash was believed taken in the burglary which was discovered Sunday.

'Apple Thief' Caught By Police Captain

DALLAS (AP)—Police have found the thief who has been taking bites out of apples sent the officers as a Christmas gift.

"It wouldn't be so bad," Capt. Will Fritz had said earlier. "If the guy would take one apple and eat it. But he takes a healthy bite out of one apple and puts it back. He's spoiled several."

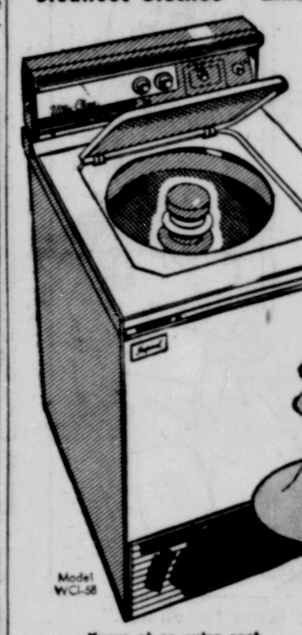

But Sunday Fritz caught the chief in the act. The large rat jumped from the apple box and escaped through an air conditioning shaft.

CHURCH GROUND BROKEN

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Work has begun on a $150,000 addition to St. James' Episcopal Church Ground was broken Sunday by the Rev. Dayton B. Wright, rector of the church founded in 1824. The two-story brick addition, which will contain church classrooms and offices, is expected to be completed by next fall.
